

WAR TIME STRIKE BEGINS

Nazi Leaders To Learn Fate Today

22 Defendants Are Denounced As Criminals

Tribunal Rules Waging Of Aggressive War "Is Supreme Crime"

EXECUTIONS MAY BE CARRIED OUT OCT. 16

Majority Of Former German Leaders Seem Reconciled To Death

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—The International Military Tribunal, in a history-making judgment foreshadowing death or imprisonment for Hitler's top-ranking henchmen, ruled today that the waging of aggressive warfare "is the supreme crime."

Sentences will be pronounced individually tomorrow on 22 erstwhile Nazi leaders, on trial before the four-power tribunal. The majority of the defendants, including Hermann Goering, seemed reconciled to the probability that they would be sentenced to death. The executions are expected to be carried out October 16 unless the Allied Control Council grants appeals.

Grim-silent, 21 of the Nazis sat in the prisoner's dock of the heavily-guarded courtroom as the eight-man court read the greater part of the scathing 100,000-word judgment which denounced them as criminals.

Bormann Never Captured The 2nd Martin Bormann, never has been captured or established dead.

Today's session lasted almost eight hours, adjourning at 6:40 p. m. At that time 177 pages of the judgment had been read, leaving about 70 to be disposed of tomorrow before individual sentences are pronounced.

In Berlin, the Allied Control Council said that two newspaper correspondents from each of the four occupying powers would be allowed to witness any executions. Only official photographers appointed by the court will be admitted to film the executions.

The wording of the judgment indicated that all 22 were in some measure guilty as charged. All defendants are accused of at least two counts of the four-count bill of indictment, and some are accused of all four counts.

The charges are a common plan to wage aggressive war, crimes against the peace of the world, war crimes and crimes against humanity. No declarations of criminality were returned against four Nazi organizations—the General Staff, the High Command, the Reich Cabinet and Hitler's brown-shirted Stormtroopers (SA).

"Certain Groups" Convicted But "certain groups" of the fearsome Gestapo, the Reich Security Service (SD), a department which operated a spy system and the Leadership Corps were convicted.

The tribunal emphasized that members of the organizations against which no declarations of criminality were returned could be tried as individuals. In the case of the General Staff and High Command, the court ruled that the organizations did not come within the framework of the tribunal's charter because they were not, strictly speaking, units.

However, the judges referred to Germany's "ruthless military caste" and declared in biting language that (Continued on Page 7, Col. 1)

U. S. Warships Lose "Good Will" Tag

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Navy took the "good will" label off American sea forces in the Mediterranean today and frankly called them instruments of American policy in that strategic area where Russia and the West collide.

Secretary Forrestal, in an unusual policy declaration, which was cleared in advance with the State Department, set up the following as main reasons for keeping United States sea power in evidence in the Mediterranean and Eastern Atlantic:

"First, to support the Allied occupation forces and the Allied military government in the discharge of their responsibilities in the occupied areas of Europe.

"Second, to protect United States interests and to support United States policies in the area."

The Navy chief at the same time made it clear that those assignments are a long way from finished. This was accomplished by his announcement that when the great aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt finishes the Mediterranean cruise that started out as a good will tour and training exercise, she will be followed in time to time by a successor of other flatboats.

Yugo News Agency Denies That Attempt Made To Kill Tito

LONDON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Rumors circulated in London tonight of an attempt on the life of Marshal Tito, premier of Yugoslavia, but Tanjug, official Yugoslav news agency, said the reports were unfounded.

"There's nothing to it," Tanjug said.

The Yugoslav embassy here said it had "heard nothing" to substantiate the rumors.

A Tanjug editor described the rumor as "a typical wishful thinking story such as originate in Rome and Athens."

The source of the rumor was not determined.

Later, commercial cable and radio companies said they were unable to communicate with Yugoslavia, but did not know the reason for the break.

Uncle Sam Raps Yugo Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The State Department today accused Yugoslavia of spreading "mischievous propaganda" and called anew for its co-operation in Trieste.

The propaganda charge was made in rejecting Yugoslav protests over the arrest of six soldiers in the Trieste area. The department said the arrests were justified because the Yugoslav soldiers had hand grenades concealed in their clothing in violation of regulations.

The note, signed by Undersecretary of State Will Clayton and handed to Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kosanovic, said the findings of an American military board which investigated the incident have this government's whole support.

Plane Flying Pacific Contacts Mainland, Breaking Long Silence

ALAMEDA, Calif., Sept. 30 (AP)—Alameda Naval Air Station reported being in contact tonight with the Navy's "Truculent Turtle," attempting a world distance flight from Perth, Australia, at 9:14 p. m. (PST) 75 miles west of Red Bluff, Calif.

The plane asked for weather conditions between Red Bluff and Seattle Bluff, Neb., and indicated it was proceeding at least that far east.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Navy's "Truculent Turtle" plane made radio contact with the United States mainland tonight, breaking a 14-hour silence which had prompted authorities to order all western naval installations to try to communicate with it.

The plane, carrying four men and a kangaroo, had been flying for hours across the Pacific without any word from it until the Civil Aero-

Chances For Any Quick Removal Of Ceilings Dwindle; All Canned Fruits Decontrolled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Chances for any quick removal of meat price ceilings dwindled further tonight as Secretary of Agriculture Anderson ruled officially that it still is scarce.

The ruling retains meat on October's list of price-controlled foods. However, Anderson's second monthly list of scarce agricultural commodities, issued under the new price control act, removed ceilings from the following:

Oat cereals, canned corn, all canned fruits, fruit juices and fruit nectars, fresh and frozen salmon, wet and pressed sugar beet pulp, rum, cordials and liqueurs.

These were left off the Agriculture Department's short supply list. The law forbids OPA to apply ceilings to any food not appearing there.

There were three other developments too, on prices and foods:

1. Chairman Roy L. Thompson of the Decontrol Board predicted in a speech the end of most price regulations within six months but said no amount of political or other pressure will influence the board.

Present Shortage Unforeseen 2. The decontrol chief, in a second address, said the board did not foresee the present meat shortage when it restored ceilings because it "expected better co-operation" and did not expect to see human nature react as it did.

3. The Army turned to Argentina for meat.

4. Livestock supplies at the major American markets showed a considerable improvement, with the cattle run the heaviest of the month at Chicago.

Anderson, addressing the executive committee of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association at Albuquerque, said that in his short supply list he must consider not the great number of animals on the (Continued on Page 7, Col. 1)

Romance Of Coed, Student Fiance Ends In Tragedy

Ohio State University Junior Kills Girl, Takes Own Life

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30 (AP)—Two crumpled bodies, lying on a front yard near Ohio State University, disclosed at dawn today the tragic end of a romance of a popular coed and her student fiance.

Clutched in the hand of Donald Throne, 22-year-old junior in the College of Engineering, was a .22 caliber pistol he had bought from a mail order house.

Beside him was the body of Alice Krone Patterson, 20, daughter of a professor and a senior in the engineering college, who had tried to break their engagement after a year's courtship.

Police Capt. William Murphy said Throne had shot Miss Patterson in the head and then shot himself in the mouth.

Bodies Found At Dawn The scene was next door to the residence of Dr. Robert Higgy, director of the university radio station WOSU, where the young woman lived. The couple left there late yesterday to attend a meeting of the Westminster Foundation, a student religious organization of which Miss Patterson formerly was campus president.

The girl returned home at 8 p. m. and then left again. About 10:30 p. m. a resident of the neighborhood heard what she thought were shots.

The bodies were discovered at dawn by Mrs. John Conti, a passerby, and three students, who first thought someone had devised a hoax.

The girl's father is Dr. A. D. Patterson, director of teachers training at Lock Haven (Pa.) State Teachers College.

Union, Power Company Hold Joint Meeting

U. S. Conciliators Enter Pittsburgh's Tangled Strike Picture

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1 (AP)—A strike of 1,800 hotel workers at Pittsburgh's eight major hotels started shortly after midnight tonight. The walkout followed a 4 to 1 vote to strike by workers to enforce wage increase demands.

A two-year contract held by the AFL-Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance with the hotels expired at midnight tonight.

The workers are seeking a 20 per cent wage increase and other benefits. The hotels have offered an eight cent hourly boost.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30 (AP)—Federal government conciliators, assigned here to help settle Pittsburgh's power strike, tonight arranged for a joint meeting between the principals in the dispute which had crippled the industrial life of the city for several days.

The meeting was scheduled for midnight. Announcement that the disputants would get together followed a one-hour "exploratory" conference between the conciliators and President George L. Mueller and his aides of the independent union of 3,500 employees of the Duquesne Light Company. Company representatives earlier assured the conciliators they were ready to meet any time.

Earlier Meetings "Cordial" The government's new trouble-shooters in the case where William Margolis, New York, and Lucian Rye, Baltimore, both from the United States Conciliation Service.

None of the principals would comment on the earlier meetings but described them as "purely introductory and very cordial."

As the conciliators entered the tangled picture, the steel area's 1,500,000 residents went through another monotonous day with sharply reduced power. Idled by picketing, street cars and bus lines were shut down while industrial plants and stores stayed closed and households again postponed washday to save power for hospitals and essential services.

Mayor Makes New Plea Margolis and Rye joined with Conciliator Charles Kutz, previously assigned here, in seeking a solution of the strike after negotiations became deadlocked over the weekend.

The union seeks a 20 per cent pay raise. It described the present average base pay as $11.8.

A new plea came from Mayor David L. Lawrence to conserve power, the executive declaring "to this hour the city has staved off an absolute 'blackout' of power, but no one can truthfully say that we can do so in the future."

Virginia Governor Warns Union RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 30 (AP)—Gov. Tuck wrote J. C. Chicago Electric Train Strike Is Scheduled Today

Walkout Would Interrupt Service On 200 Trains Serving 24,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—A strike interrupting passenger service on some 200 electric trains serving more than 24,000 suburban commuters to Chicago today was ordered to start at 4 a. m. (CST) tomorrow on the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin Railroad.

The Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers and Firemen submitted a joint strike notice, the brotherhoods and the railroad said, in support of an 18 1/2 cents hourly wage increase.

The company has offered 14 1/2 cents and said a four-cent raise was granted last year, before the recent nationwide 18 1/2 cent rail wage boost.

Brotherhood Refused Offer The Brotherhood refused the offer, asking for the full 18 1/2 cents in addition to the previous four cents increase. A union spokesman said wages would be increased to about $12.25 an hour if the brotherhood's full demands are met.

Arthur L. Schwartz, railroad president, said industry-wide union demands would create an annual deficit of $30,000, adding that "we have offered all we can."

If the unions and railroad follow the procedure of the National Railway Labor Act, a strike may be delayed 30 days or longer after the effective date while a presidentially appointed fact-finding board investigates the case. Railroad and brotherhood officials said, however, they knew of no action to delay the strike.

Arbitration Request Rejected Last week both the company and the brotherhoods rejected a National Railroad Mediation Board request to submit the dispute to arbitration. The dispute, involving 100 trainmen, was scheduled to be heard Oct. 2.

Whisky Presents For WAA Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Employees in one office of the government surplus disposal agency went out to lunch one day last Christmas and when they came back, the House Surplus Property Committee heard today, they found bottles of whiskey tied with red ribbons on their desks.

"A number of bottles were opened and passed around very extensively," said Bruner T. Honeycutt, WAA employee who told of the incident. Honeycutt testified his bottle bore the card of Herman Krissman, Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) identified Krissman as associated with Belmont Radio Corporation of Chicago, which handled surplus sales.

I first put it on the floor," Honeycutt related. "After due deliberation I determined it was not expedient to assume there was anything wrong. I picked it up and took it with me rather than risk insulting anyone."

Meanwhile Benjamin Franklin Fields, a surplus property broker, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on two contempt counts growing out of the committee's investigation.

The indictment charges that on August 13 and August 15 he refused to produce all the records the committee sought in connection with a $12,936 deal in wire snatching.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30 (AP)—The American Legion today bestowed its highest award, the Legion Distinguished Service Medal, upon former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and Comedian Bob Hope.

Hull's award was bestowed in absentia and accepted in his behalf by Gen. John H. Hildring, assistant secretary of state, after a citation read by Roane Waring, Memphis, Tenn., past national commander.

General Hildring evoked a storm of applause in a brief acceptance. "The Old Brown of Tennessee," Hildring told the convention, "asked me to say he didn't have any idea why this honor was bestowed upon him but only illness, very serious illness, prevented him from coming to this rostrum to accept it."

The citation called him "the greatest living American." Hope was presented the Legion's medal by Past National Commander John Quinn, Los Angeles, as the "friend of the veterans and personal fester to 12,000,000 GIs."

"He has flown a half million miles to perform in the din of battle as well as the hush of the hospital wards," Quinn said.

Hope received a roaring reception as he declared:

"I know Crosby will be jealous. He hasn't received anything like this since Lee pinned a medal on him for leading the defeat at Bull Run."

"Seriously, however, I've been paid off many times for what little I have done—in the faces of the men standing out in the rain with me."

"I only wish every member of every USO troupe could stand up here and accept this with me."

Hoover's medal was presented by Frank Delgrano, Jr., past national commander in a ceremony citing Hoover for combating subversive activities.

Stelle Warns Against Communists As Threat From Within

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Two top-ranking commanders of World War II told the American Legion today that the United States must remain militarily powerful against any possible danger from without and the Legion's retiring commander warned against Communists and "Socialist appeasement" as threats from within.

Peace was the theme but preparedness was the emphasis as 150,000 Legionnaires opened the 28th national convention.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover drew an ovation when he told the convention that Communism "is a growing menace" in this country and the time is rapidly approaching "when loyal Americans must be willing to stand up and be counted."

Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the Army Air Forces, said if another war developed, the Arctic is a logical lane of attack and "we are, in fact, wide open at the top."

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who directed the naval warfare in the Pacific, said: "Barely had the last shot been fired in World War II before the demand was raised by some to slash the Army and Navy to token size. These views, which take advantage of the popular and understandable desire for economy, must not be allowed to prevail."

The Legion's national commander, John Stelle, saw a "real peril to the American system" in the present-day thinking of thousands of Americans.

Stelle Criticizes Bradley "Some of them are dyed in the wool Communists," Stelle said. "But many others, including labor leaders, teachers and professional men and women, have swallowed a Socialist appeasement and have not looked into a mirror to see how red they have turned."

Stelle, in a criticism of Gen. Omar Bradley, charged the Federal Veterans' Administrator with "breaking the faith" with veterans in imposing a ceiling on veterans' on-the-job training; declared such a ceiling threatened to make the training "just another WPA project."

"I am for economy in government but without jeopardizing the most strongly that this 28th annual convention of the American Legion adopt a resolution . . . to take the ceiling off the veterans and put it on the bureaucrats."

In a message sent from Germany, Gen. Eisenhower said there remains a big job to do both in Japan and in Europe, that the Army would support moves to cut expenses drastically but "there is an irreducible minimum below which we cannot go."

Stelle's report criticized Bradley protection of the country and all it stands for.

U. S.-British Co-operation Lauded British Field Marshal Lord Wilson, lauding British-American co-operation in the recent war, said "it cannot be foreseen when it might be required in the future."

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, called Communism a "growing menace." He said "American Communists have made their deepest inroads upon our national life" during the past five years.

"They have maneuvered themselves into positions where a few Communists control the destinies of hundreds who are either unwilling to be led or have been duped into obeying the dictates of others," Hoover charged.

Stelle's report criticized Bradley but said the Veterans' Administrator was not "entirely responsible."

35,000 To Be Drafted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Selective Service has been asked by the Army to provide 35,000 men during October. This quota—to be filled with men from 19 to 29 inclusive—is 10,000 above the September call which Selective Service said was met chiefly with men between 19 and 23.

Reports circulated earlier that the government would intervene directly to avert the strike. These reports were heard as negotiators worked to reach a solution to the nation's new shipping troubles.

Boris Shishkin, AFL economist representing the AFL in the meetings, told reporters "very substantial progress was made for the first time" on settling demands of the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots Union. The other marine officers' union involved is the CIO Engineers' Beneficial Association.

WAC Is Sentenced For Jewel Theft

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—Kathleen Nash Durant, 43-year-old WAC captain, was sentenced today to five years imprisonment at hard labor and dishonorable discharge from the United States Army for her part in the theft of $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels.

Mrs. Durant sat poker-faced as a nine-man court-martial pronounced her guilty of three counts of larceny from a hard labor and dishonorable discharge from the United States Army for her part in the theft of $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels.

Still awaiting trial in connection with the theft are her husband, Col. Jack Durant, and their friend, Maj. David A. Watson.

Mrs. Durant's attorney, Col. John S. Dwinell, Brooklyn, N. Y., declared in his final argument that Mrs. Durant had been made the "scapegoat" for all the looting done by American soldiers in Germany, and urged that she be granted mercy.

Engineers May Stay On Ships Until Daybreak To Bank Fires

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (Tuesday) (AP)—The Marine Beneficial Association officials, in negotiations here, said today that the maritime strike went into effect "automatically at midnight" last night.

They said the strike now would not be determined until official orders were issued from here.

Negotiations continued here, meanwhile, without any announcement from the government as to what the further procedure would be.

Union officials announced in New York that picketing will start there at 7 a. m. with all of the 407 vessels in the metropolitan harbor expected to be immobilized.

San Francisco officials of the CIO Marine Engineers reported that the strike also will be under way there by morning.

Nazi Leaders To Learn Fate Today

22 Defendants Are Denounced As Criminals

Tribunal Rules Waging Of Aggressive War "Is Supreme Crime"

EXECUTIONS MAY BE CARRIED OUT OCT. 16

Majority Of Former German Leaders Seem Reconciled To Death

NUERNBERG, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—The International Military Tribunal, in a history-making judgment foreboding death or imprisonment for Hitler's top-ranking henchmen, ruled today that the waging of aggressive warfare "is the supreme crime."

Sentences will be pronounced individually tomorrow on 22 erstwhile Nazi leaders, on trial before the four-power tribunal. The majority of the defendants, including Hermann Goering, seemed reconciled to the probability that they would be sentenced to death. The executions are expected to be carried out October 16 unless the Allied Control Council grants appeals.

Grim-silent, 21 of the Nazis sat in the prisoner's dock of the heavily-guarded courtroom as the eight-man court read the greater part of the scathing 100,000-word judgment which denounced them as criminals.

Bormann Never Captured The second Martin Bormann, never has been captured or established dead.

Today's session lasted almost eight hours, adjourning at 6:40 p. m. At that time 177 pages of the judgment had been read, leaving about 70 to be disposed of tomorrow before individual sentences are pronounced.

In Berlin, the Allied Control Council said that two newspaper correspondents from each of the four occupying powers would be allowed to witness any executions. Only official photographers appointed by the court will be admitted to film the executions.

The wording of the judgment indicated that all 22 were in some measure guilty as charged. All defendants are accused of at least two counts of the four-count bill of indictment, and some are accused of all four counts.

The charges are a common plan to wage aggressive war, crimes against the peace of the world, war crimes and crimes against humanity. No declarations of criminality were returned against four Nazi organizations—the General Staff, the High Command, the Reich Cabinet and Hitler's brown-shirted Storm-troopers (SA).

"Certain Groups" Convicted But "certain groups" of the fear-mongering Gestapo, the Elite Guard (SS) the SD (a department which operated a spy system) and the Leadership Corps were convicted.

The tribunal emphasized that members of the organizations against which no declarations of criminality were returned could be tried as individuals. In the case of the General Staff and High Command, the court ruled that the organizations did not come within the framework of the tribunal's charter because they were not, strictly speaking, units.

Yugo News Agency Denies That Attempt Made To Kill Tito

LONDON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Rumors circulated in London tonight of an attempt on the life of Marshal Tito, premier of Yugoslavia, but Tanjug, official Yugoslav news agency, said the reports were unfounded.

"There's nothing to it," Tanjug said. The Yugoslav embassy here said it had "heard nothing" to substantiate the rumors.

A Tanjug editor described the rumor as "a typical wishful thinking story such as originate in Rome and Athens."

The source of the rumor was not determined. Later, commercial cable and radio companies said they were unable to communicate with Yugoslavia, but did not know the reason for the break.

Uncle Sam Raps Yugo Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The State Department today accused Yugoslavia of spreading "mischievous propaganda" and called anew for its co-operation in Trieste.

The propaganda charge was made in rejecting Yugoslav protests over the arrest of six soldiers in the Trieste area. The department said the arrests were justified because the Yugoslav soldiers had hand grenades concealed in their clothing in violation of regulations.

The note, signed by Undersecretary of State Will Clayton and handed to Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kozanovic, said the findings of an American military board which investigated the incident have shown this government's whole support.

Plane Flying Pacific Contacts Mainland, Breaking Long Silence

ALAMEDA, Calif., Sept. 30 (AP)—Alameda Naval Air Station reported today in contact with a plane flying from the Pacific, attempting a world distance flight from Perth, Australia, at 9:14 p. m. (PST) 75 miles west of Red Bluff, Calif. The plane asked for weather conditions between Red Bluff and Seattle Bluff, Neb., and indicated it was proceeding at least that far east.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Navy's "Truculent Turtle" plane made radio contact with the United States mainland tonight, breaking a 14-hour silence which had prompted authorities to order all western naval installations to try to communicate with it.

The plane, carrying four men and kangaroo, had been flying for hours across the Pacific without any word from it until the Civil Aero-

Chances For Any Quick Removal Of Ceilings Dwindle; All Canned Fruits Decontrolled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Chances for any quick removal of meat price ceilings dwindled further tonight as Secretary of Agriculture Anderson ruled officially that it still is scarce.

The ruling retains meat on October's list of price-controlled foods. However, Anderson's second monthly list of scarce agricultural commodities, issued under the new price control act, removed ceilings from the following:

Oat cereals, canned corn, all canned fruits, fruit juices and fruit nectars, fresh and frozen salmon, wet and pressed sugar beet pulp, rum, cordials and liqueurs.

These were left off the Agriculture Department's short supply list. The law forbids OPA to apply ceilings to any food not appearing there.

There were three other developments too, on prices and foods:

1. Chairman Roy L. Thompson of the Decontrol Board predicted in a speech the end of most price regulations within six months but said no amount of political or other pressure will influence the board.

2. The decontrol chief, in a second address, said the board did not foresee the present meat shortage when it restored ceilings because it "expected better co-operation" and "didn't expect to see human nature react as it did."

3. The Army turned to Argentina for meat.

4. Livestock supplies at the major American markets showed a considerable improvement, with the cattle run the heaviest of the month at Chicago.

Anderson, addressing the executive committee of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association at Albuquerque, said that in his short supply list he must consider not the great number of animals on the hoof but the quality of the meat.

At that time it had traveled 6,300 miles in 29 hours and had approximately 3,000 miles of unbroken ocean to cover before sighting the Oregon coast.

Romance Of Coed, Student Fiance Ends In Tragedy

Ohio State University Junior Kills Girl, Takes Own Life

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30 (AP)—Two crumpled bodies, lying on a front yard near Ohio State University, disclosed at dawn today the tragic end of a romance of a popular coed and her student fiance.

Clutched in the hand of Donald Thorne, 22-year-old junior in the College of Engineering, was a .22 caliber pistol he had bought from a mail order house.

Beside him was the body of Alice Krone, 20, daughter of a professor and a senior in the engineering college, who had tried to break their engagement after a year's courtship.

Police Capt. William Murphy said Thorne had shot Miss Patterson in the head and then shot himself in the mouth.

The bodies were next door to the residence of Dr. Robert Higley, director of the university radio station WOSU, where the young woman lived. The couple left there late yesterday to attend a meeting of the Westminster Foundation, a student religious organization of which Miss Patterson formerly was campus president.

The girl returned home at 8 p. m. and then left again. About 10:30 p. m. a resident of the neighborhood heard what she thought were shots.

The bodies were discovered at dawn by Mrs. John Conti, a passerby, and three students, who first thought someone had devised a hoax.

The girl's father is Dr. A. D. Patterson, director of teachers training at Lock Haven (Pa.) State Teachers College.

Union, Power Company Hold Joint Meeting

U. S. Conciliators Enter Pittsburgh's Tangled Strike Picture

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1 (AP)—A strike of 1,800 hotel workers at Pittsburgh's eight major hotels started shortly after midnight tonight. The walkout followed a 4 to 1 vote to strike by workers to enforce wage increase demands.

A two-year contract held by the AFL-Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance with the hotels expired at midnight tonight.

The workers are seeking a 20 per cent wage increase and other benefits. The hotels have offered an eight cent hourly boost.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30 (AP)—Federal government conciliators, assigned here to help settle Pittsburgh's power strike, tonight arranged for a joint meeting between the principals in the dispute which had crippled the industrial life of the city seven days.

The meeting was scheduled for midnight. Announcement that the disputants would get together followed a one-hour "exploratory" conference between the conciliators and President George L. Mueller and his aides of the independent union of 3,500 employees of the Duquesne Light Company. Company representatives earlier assured the conciliators they were ready to meet any time.

Earlier Meetings "Cordial" The government's new trouble-shooters in the case where William Margolis, New York, and Lucian Rye, Baltimore, both from the United States Conciliation Service.

None of the principals would comment on the earlier meetings but described them as "friendly and very cordial."

As the conciliators entered the tangled picture, the steel area's 1,500,000 residents went through another monotonous day with sharply reduced power. Idled by picketing, street cars and bus lines were shut down while industrial plants and stores stayed closed and housewives again postponed washday to save power for hospitals and essential services.

Mayor Makes Plea Margolis and Rye joined with David L. Lawrence, to conserve power, the executive declaring "to this hour the city has staved off an absolute 'blackout' of power, but no one can truthfully say that we can do so in the future."

Chicago Electric Train Strike Is Scheduled Today

Walkout Would Interrupt Service On 200 Trains Serving 24,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—A strike interrupting passenger service on some 200 electric trains serving more than 24,000 suburban commuters to Chicago today was ordered to start at 4 a. m. (CST) tomorrow on the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin Railroad.

The Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen and Locomotive Engineers and Firemen submitted a joint strike notice, the brotherhoods and the railroad said, in support of an 18 1/2 cents hourly wage increase.

The company has offered 14 1/2 cents and said a four-cent raise was granted last year, before the recent nationwide 18 1/2 cent rail wage boost.

Brotherhood Refused Offer The Brotherhood refused the offer, asking for the full 18 1/2 cents in addition to the previous four cents increase. A union spokesman said wages would be increased to about $12.22 an hour if the brotherhoods' full demands are met.

Arthur L. Schwartz, railroad president, said compliance with union demands would create an annual deficit of $30,000, adding that "we have offered all we can."

If the unions and railroad follow the procedure of the National Railway Labor Act, a strike may be delayed 30 days or longer after the effective date while a presidential-appointed fact-finding board investigates the case. Railroad and brotherhood officials said, however, they knew of no action to delay the strike.

Arbitration Request Rejected Last week both the company and the brotherhoods rejected a National Railroad Mediation Board request to submit the dispute to arbitration. The dispute, involving 100 trainmen, (Continued on Page 7, Col. 2)

Whisky Presents For WAA Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Employees in one office of the government surplus disposal agency went out to lunch one day last Christmas and when they came back, the House Surplus Property Committee heard today, they found bottles of whisky tied with red ribbons to their desks.

A number of bottles were opened and passed around very extensively, said Bruner T. Honeycutt, WAA employee who told of the incident.

Honeycutt testified his bottle bore the card of Herman Krisman, Chairman Slaughter ID-Mo identified Krisman as associated with Belmont Radio Corporation of Chicago which handled surplus sales.

"I first put it on the floor," Honeycutt related. "After due deliberation I determined it was not expedient to submit the results of the investigation to assume there was anything wrong. I picked it up and took it with me rather than risk insulting anyone."

Meanwhile Benjamin Franklin Fields, a surplus property broker, was indicted by a federal grand jury on two contempt counts growing out of the committee's investigation.

The indictment charges that on August 13 and August 15 he refused to produce all the records the committee sought in connection with a $12,936 deal in wire screening.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30 (AP)—The American Legion today bestowed its highest award, the Legion Distinguished Service Medal, upon former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and Congressman Bob Hope.

Hull's award was bestowed in absentia and accepted in his behalf by Gen. John H. Hildring, assistant secretary of state, after a citation read by Roane Waring, Memphis, Tenn., past national commander.

General Hildring evoked a storm of applause in a brief acceptance. "The Old Brown of Tennessee," Hildring told the convention, "asked me to say he didn't have any idea why this honor was bestowed upon him but only illness, very serious illness, prevented him from coming to this rostrum to accept it."

The citation called him "the greatest living American."

Hope was presented the Legion's medal by Past National Commander John Quinn, Los Angeles, as the "friend of the veterans and personal fester to 12,000,000 GIs."

"He has flown a half million miles to perform in the din of battle as well as the hush of the hospital wards," Quinn said.

Hope received a roaring reception as he declared: "I know Crosby will be jealous. He hasn't received anything like this since Lee pinned a medal on him for leading the defeat at Bull Run."

"Seriously, however, I've been paid off many times for what little I have done—in the faces of the men standing out in the rain with me."

"I only wish every member of every USO troupe could stand up here and accept this with me."

Hoover's medal was presented by the Frank Delgrano, Jr., past national commander in a ceremony citing Hoover for combating subversive activities

Stelle Warns Against Communists As Threat From Within

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Two top-ranking commanders of World War II told the American Legion today that the United States must remain militarily powerful against any possible danger from without and the Legion's retiring commander warned against Communists and "Socialist appeasement" as threats from within.

Peace was the theme but preparedness got the emphasis as 150,000 Legionnaires opened the 28th national convention.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover drew an ovation when he told the convention that Communism "is a growing menace" in this country and the time is rapidly approaching "when loyal Americans must be willing to stand up and be counted."

Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the Army Air Forces, said if another war developed, the Arctic is a logical lane of attack and "we are, in fact, wide open at the top."

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who directed the naval warfare in the Pacific, said: "Barely had the last shot been fired in World War II before the demand was raised by a calling threat—American and Navy to taken size. These views, which take advantage of the popular and understandable desire for economy, must not be allowed to prevail."

The Legion's national commander, John Stelle, said a "real peril to the American system" in the present-day thinking of thousands of Americans.

Stelle criticized Bradley "Some of them are dyed in the wool Communists," Stelle said.

"But many others, including labor leaders, teachers and professional men and women, have swallowed a Socialist appeasement and have not looked into a mirror to see how red they have turned."

Stelle, in a criticism of Gen. Omar Bradley, charged the Federal Veterans' Administrator with "breaking the faith" with veterans in imposing a ceiling on veterans' on-the-job training; declared such a ceiling threatens to make the training "just another WPA project."

"I am for economy in government go without jeopardizing the mend most strongly that this 28th annual convention of the American Legion, and we match their irreducible minimum below which we cannot take the ceiling off the veterans and put it on the bureaucrats."

In a message sent from Germany, Gen. Eisenhower said there remains a big job to do both in Japan and in Europe, that the Army would support moves to cut expenses drastically but "there is an irreducible minimum below which we cannot take the ceiling off the veterans and put it on the bureaucrats."

Stelle's report criticized Bradley protection of the country and all it stands for.

U. S.-British Co-operation Lauded British Field Marshal Lord Wilson, lauding British-American co-operation in the recent war, said "it cannot be foreseen when it might be required in the future."

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, called Communism a "growing menace." He said "American Communist spies are in the midst of their deepest throats upon our national life" during the past five years.

"They have maneuvered themselves into positions where a few Communists control the destinies of hundreds who are either unwilling to be led or have been duped into obeying the dictates of others," Hoover charged.

Stelle's report criticized Bradley but said the Veterans' Administrator was not "entirely responsible."

35,000 To Be Drafted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Selective Service has been asked by the Army to provide 35,000 men during October. This quota—to be filled with men from 19 to 29 inclusive—is 10,000 above the September quota while Selective Service said was met chiefly with men between 19 and 23.

WAC Is Sentenced For Jewel Theft

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—Kathleen Nash, Durant, 43-year-old WAC captain, was sentenced today to five years imprisonment at hard labor and dishonorable discharge from the United States Army for her part in the theft of $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels.

Mrs. Durant sat poker-faced as a nine-man court-martial pronounced her guilty of three counts of larceny and embezzlement and of being absent without leave from her post of duty.

Still awaiting trial in connection with the theft are her husband, Col. Jack Durant, and their friend, Maj. David A. Watson.

Mrs. Durant's attorney, Col. John S. Dwinell, Brooklyn, N. Y., declared in his final argument that Mrs. Durant had been made the victim of a "frame-up" for all the looting done by American soldiers in Germany, and urged that she be granted mercy.

Hen Adopts Skunk

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., (AP)—A hen adopted a new house pet—a baby skunk—at the Otis Reiman farm home near here. Reiman's son Bill helped nourish the kitten with milk from an eye dropper. Originally, a motherless litter of seven kittens was taken under the hen's wing, but "Skunkie" was the only survivor of the odd adoption. The hen scratched morsels for "Skunk-ie," which caused no trouble—except once when it sent an over-curious calf capering with a scented shower. The sum total of many a girl's attractiveness is her figure.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"I'll Buy That Dream" Rabbi Wm. D. Silverman, of Temple Emanuel, Gastonia, N. C., has the floor today with a subject as vital as it is modern. Says he: "Your article called to mind the title of a popular song—'I'll Buy That Dream.' We predicate all our hopes of the future on the dream of world brotherhood. Yet hope and wish as we may, we sometimes forget that we have to buy our dream with sweat, effort and knowledge. "Jacob had to wrestle for his blessing. It was not given to him without a struggle."

And then he goes on to tell the old story we learned in Sunday school—the story too how Jacob walked at night in his bitterness and confusion and how the angel wrestled with him until the dawn. Then as the sun rose over the desert the angel would have departed but Jacob said, "I will not let go, except thou bless me."

And the angel touched him and Jacob was lame thereafter. But though he was lame, the great inheritance was his.

We forget that men must buy the dreams they cherish and that they must go a little crippled from the struggle they have known. We forget that there is a long, grim fight before any achievement.

It would be well, especially now, for America to remember this. We have achieved what seems to be a great triumph, but there are forces at work within us which will yet disrupt us and destroy us unless we are all on guard. Rightly controlled, these are forces for good. But once let them become too powerful and they will work for evil.

We are too sure of ourselves. We are too sure that America has won and the dead cry out against complacency as well as the living. They know now what we have forgotten—that there is no triumph unless we struggle to the dawn. And no man goes unscarred who wins through to victory.

This is no time to rest on our shields nor cry quits. We must demand as Jacob demanded our rightful blessing. And we must earn that blessing day by day by living according to those principles which our fathers taught.

America is in the balance today. It is so beset by intolerance and greed and crookedness that one wonders if it can survive. We have gone so soft that we stink. Only remembrance of the struggles which our fathers fought and the handicaps which they endured can put muscle and sinew in its again. (Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

William H. Donald Granted New Parole

William H. Donald, a Lonaconing miner, was arraigned in Circuit Court Saturday on a charge of violating the terms of a parole granted more than two years ago, when he was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of John Lashbaugh. He was given another parole by Judge Huster Saturday.

Donald was convicted by a jury at the April 1944 term of court and was paroled for five years, on condition that he pay the funeral expenses of Lashbaugh, at the rate of $20 a month, and to abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages. Under the terms of the new parole, granted Saturday, the payments were reduced to $10 a month, after it was shown that Donald is a married man with four children. He was arraigned for failing to keep up the payments ordered in the original parole.

COOKIES 'N' MILK... After school treat.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS Associated Press Food Editor

Something to eat after school used to be a great treat and given only to the children who had been good—or who needed building up. But today's young are treated better. Children don't need anything elaborate for snacks. On the contrary, it's better if the food is simple. But they do like sweets lots of times and I suggest that you make them some cookies out of good, nourishing peanut butter, which halves the needed shortening—and also with just plain peanuts. They'll prove how much they love the rich nutty flavor by gobbling them up.

Peanut Butter Pinwheels

1/2 cup shortening 1 egg slightly beaten
1/2 cup peanut butter 1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup corn syrup

Cream shortening and peanut butter. Add sugar and egg, stir until thoroughly blended. Beat in egg. Sift together flour, soda and salt and stir into first mixture. Chill for 2 hours. Then shape into 1 in. balls. Place balls on greased or oiled cookie sheet and press each flat with a fork dipped in cold water. Bake in moderate oven (375°) for 10 to 15 min., or until well browned. This makes about 3 doz. cookies.

Peanut Macaroons

1/2 cup shortening 1/2 cup peanuts
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 egg well beaten 1 cup ready-to-eat cereal
1 cup finely chopped salted or roasted

Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Beat in egg, and add peanuts, extract and cereal. Mix thoroughly. Press mixture into rounded bowl of tablespoon. Drop on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart. Bake in moderate oven (375°) for 12 to 15 min., or until well browned. This makes about 3 doz. macaroons.

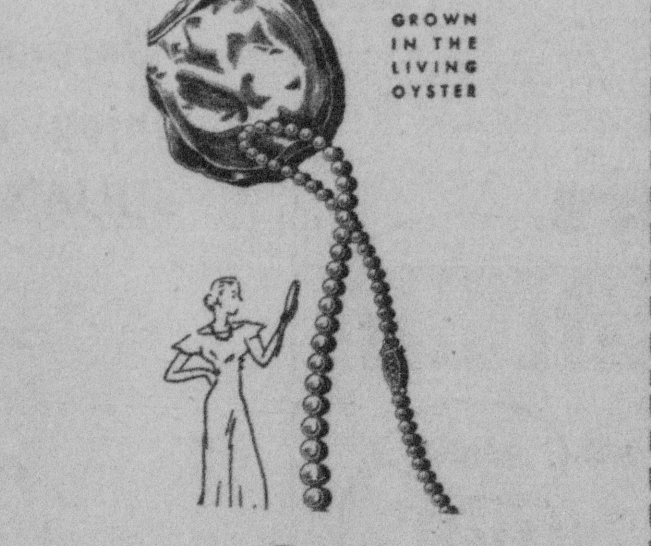

Besides a cookie jar, any well-equipped house with children in it should contain nourishing sandwich spreads in jars, which the youngsters can make up themselves with no trouble to them—or to mother. Peanut butter is one of the best of these—why not have the kind with bits of nuts in it, and the plain kind too, for variety's sake? Apple butter is another spread which most children like and which is very good for them. Cheese spreads like pimiento and pineapple also make stick-to-the-ribs and are good for carrying small fry through energetic play-time.

Something to drink should be provided, too. Milk is best, unless it takes away the appetite for the evening meal. It's a pretty satisfactory drink.

Measuring Rod

Accuracy is important in measuring ingredients for home baking in these days of flour and fat shortages. To measure dry ingredients, fill the measuring cup or spoon to overflowing, then run the straight edge of a knife over the top leveling the measure. Fat may be measured accurately in the same way. Or to measure one-third cupful of shortening, fill the cup two-thirds full of cold water. Then add fat until water reaches the full mark when fat is pushed down under the water.

"Hans Brinker" Shown For Children Here

Nearly 3,000 See Clare Tree Major Production At Fort Hill High

Nearly 3,000 children saw and apparently were delighted by the two performances of the Clare Tree Major production of "Hans Brinker of the Silver Skates" at Fort Hill High School yesterday.

The play, which is an adaptation by Miss Major of the popular Mary Mapes Dodge story of the struggles of a poverty-stricken Dutch family, was charmingly done. Enough comic relief has been provided to offset the inherent tragedy of the story, which seemed to escape the youthful audience anyway. They loved it—exclaimed at the colorful doll house settings, shrieked with pleasure when the fat fellow slipped on the ice, cheered Gretel on in the great race and was just plain noisy at the ill father's rather slow and painful recovery.

The show was presented under the auspices of the County Council of the Parent-Teachers Association. Mrs. Arch Hutcheson is chairman of the arrangements for the production which is presented annually in schools throughout the county.

Children from Carver, Columbia Street, Crestatown, Ellerslie, Oldtown, Corriganville, East Side and Humbird Street schools attended the morning performance, and Pennsylvania Avenue, Virginia Avenue, Centre Street, Gephart, Johnson Heights, Mount Royal, LaVale, Piney Plains and Paper Mills schools, the afternoon.

1/2 cup peanut butter 1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup corn syrup

Cream shortening and peanut butter. Add sugar and corn syrup, creaming until thoroughly blended. Beat in egg. Sift together flour, soda and salt and stir into first mixture. Chill for 3 hours. Then shape into 1 in. balls. Place balls on greased or oiled cookie sheet and press with a fork dipped in cold water. Bake in moderate oven (375°) for 10 minutes, or until cookies are brown and done. This makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Peanut Macaroons
1/2 cup shortening 1/2 cup peanuts
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup almond extract
1 egg well beaten 3 cups ready-to-eat baking soda
1 cup finely sugar, firmly packed cereal

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually. Beat in egg, and add peanuts, extract and cereal. Mix thoroughly. Press mixture into rounded bowl of tablespoon. Drop on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart. Bake in moderate oven (375°) for 15 to 18 minutes, or until well browned. This makes about 3 dozen macaroons.

Besides a cookie jar, any well-equipped house with children in it should contain nourishing sandwich spreads in jars, which the youngsters can make up themselves with no trouble for them. Cheese spreads like pimiento and pineapple also make stick-to-the-ribs sandwiches to carry small fry through energetic play-time.

Something to drink should be provided, too. Milk is best, unless it takes away the appetite for the evening meal. It's a pretty satisfaction.

Measuring Rod
Accuracy is important in measuring ingredients for home baking in these days of flour and fat shortages. To measure dry ingredients, fill the measuring cup or spoon to overflowing, then run the straight edge of a knife over the top leveling the measure. Fat may be measured accurately in the same way. Or to measure one-third cupful of shortening, fill the cup two-thirds full of cold water. Then add fat until water reaches the full mark when fat is pushed down under the water.

Women Urged To Get Out Vote This Fall
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 30 (AP)—Allegany County's Delegate Mrs. Lulu W. Boucher today urged members of the Maryland Republican Women's Federation to get out the vote and surveyed past legislative benefits to women.

Mrs. Boucher addressed the Federation's meeting at the State House, declaring "remember the vote in the hands of the meekest woman is worth just as much as in the hands of the mightiest man."

"Women's political importance has been steadily increasing ever since they obtained the vote in 1920," she asserted. "What she called the nation's 'terrible debt burden,' and urged that women consider the effects of taxation upon them."

Mrs. Boucher reviewed at length various state laws that were passed to benefit women and children, many of them promoted by women active in politics.

"Hans Brinker" Shown For Children Here

Nearly 3,000 See Clare Tree Major Production At Fort Hill High

Nearly 3,000 children saw and apparently were delighted by the two performances of the Clare Tree Major production of "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates" at Fort Hill High School yesterday.

The play, which is an adaptation by Miss Major of the popular Mary Mapes Dodge story of the struggles of a poverty-stricken Dutch family, was charmingly done. Enough comic relief has been provided to offset the inherent tragedy of the story, which seemed to escape the youthful audience anyway. They loved it—exclaimed at the colorful doll house settings, shrieked with pleasure when the fat fellow slipped on the ice, cheered Gretel on in the great race and was just plain noisy at the ill father's rather slow and painful recovery.

The show was presented under the auspices of the County Council of the Parent-Teachers Association. Mrs. Arch Hutcheson is chairman of the arrangements for the production which is presented annually in schools throughout the county.

Children from Carver, Columbia Street, Cresaptown, Ellerslie, Oldtown, Corriganville, East Side and Humbird Street schools attended the morning performance, and Pennsylvania Avenue, Virginia Avenue, Centre Street, Gephart, Johnson Heights, Mount Royal, LaVale, Piney Plains and Paper Mills schools, the afternoon.

Peace Commission Adopts Principle Of Free Danube

Opposition From Russian-Led Slavic States Is Overridden

PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—A peace conference commission approved eight to five today a western-proposed principle of international freedom of navigation on the Danube.

Overriding opposition from the Russian-led Slavic states, delegates on the Balkan and Finland Economic Commission voted into the Romanian treaty broad guarantees for freedom of navigation on Southern Europe's greatest waterway.

The decision foreshadowed similar action on the treaties with Hungary and Bulgaria.

Simultaneously, the commission inserted provisions for a Danubian conference of all riparian states and the Big Four within the next six months to draft detailed traffic rules applicable to all shipping.

Coincides With U. S. Proposal This move coincided with a United States proposal now before the United Nations Economic and Social Council calling for an international conference in Vienna before November 1 to resolve problems now obstructing the resumption of international traffic on the Danube.

But the eight-to-five vote, with India abstaining, only temporarily decided the Danube issue, for a two-thirds majority was not obtained and it was doubtful whether it would be when the Romanian treaty comes before the full conference. The four-power Foreign Ministers' Council has the final word in drafting.

Five Slavic nations on the commission voted solidly against the measure.

Hungary's Armed Forces Limited The military commission, meanwhile, completed examination of military clauses of all five treaties, including the Hungarian and Finnish treaties through to completion.

Delegates agreed to limit Hungary to military forces totaling 65,000 men and an air force of 5,000 men with 70 fighter and 20 reconnaissance planes. Finland's armed forces were set at 34,400 men for the army, 4,500 men and 10,000 tons of ships for the navy, and 3,000 men and 60 planes for the air force.

On Russian insistence, Czechoslovakia withdrew a proposed amendment to force Hungary to disarm along the common border, although similar provisions had been written into the Bulgarian treaty for Greece and the Italian treaty for France and Yugoslavia.

22 Defendants

The Nazi general was "disgraced to the honorable profession of war."

The SA bullies, who pushed around Hitler's early days, lost their potency after the 1934 purge, the judgment said, and were unimportant in making decisions.

The Reich Cabinet, likewise, was termed a very minor factor in shaping Hitler's terror-striking military regime.

"Not a single meeting of the Reich Cabinet was held after 1937," the document said. "The Cabinet was not consulted."

Hess Does Not Use Earphones The Leadership Corps was composed of minor functionaries, block leaders and other klings in the Nazi setup.

The Leadership Corps was used for purposes which were criminal under the charter and the Germanization of the incorporated territory, the persecution of Jews, the administration of the slave labor program and the mistreatment of prisoners of war," the judgment said.

The defendants Bormann and (Fritz) Sauckel, who were members of this organization, were among those who used it for these purposes. The gauleiters, the Kreisleiters and the Ortsgruppenleiter participated to one degree or another, in these criminal programs."

All defendants except Rudolf Hess listened intently as the eight justices took turns reading the judgment. Hess, Hitler's unpredictable shadow from the days of the 1923 Munich putsch until he parachuted to Scotland, did not use his earphones, over which the judgment was read.

In the middle of the afternoon session, the former deputy fuhrer was doubled up with what apparently was an attack of stomach cramps, and was returned to his little cell in the jail behind the court house.

the ranges, but the beef and pork and mutton that comes from them. The finding that meat animals are still in short supply late the ground-work for Anderson to turn down petition for meat decontrol which the OPA Beef Industry Advisory Committee plans to present October 8.

Tomatoes Still Under Control OPA, quickly following up the Agriculture Department's announcement these principal items taken from under ceilings on the canned fruit shelves: Yellow, orange and freestone peaches, and their juices and nectars; Bartlett and Kieffer pears and their juices and nectars; apples and applejuice; fruit cocktail and mixed fruit.

Among canned vegetables, only tomatoes and tomato products are left under control.

In fresh fruits and vegetables, only dry edible beans and peas are now subject to ceilings.

Thompson, addressing the American Retail Federation, based his prediction of fast decontrol on the idea that rapidly expanding production indicates there will be "less and less need, month by month, for price control on many fronts."

The Army said it is negotiating with packers who have South American plants for a part of the Argentine meat supply not already contracted to Great Britain. That country recently made a deal for all but 17 per cent of the Argentine exportable surplus for the next two years.

Program For Anderson Concert Is Announced

Bracey also announced that more than half of the 1,700 seats available for the concert have been reserved for a month before the concert is scheduled. He added that over 300 mail orders have been filled for out-of-town music lovers.

All types of soprano songs are included in the first group on Miss Anderson's program. "Arden Longing" (Albie "Glen" Ode) (Bellini) and "Le Violette" (Scarlatti) will afford the great artist an opportunity to range from stately and dramatic numbers to bright and colorful.

Five songs by Brahms will comprise her second group, including "Ein Wanderer" and "Sapphische Ode."

For her operatic aria, Miss Anderson has selected a number from Massenet's "Herodiade."

Negro spirituals make up the final group, and depending on the demands of the audience, Miss Anderson will add as encores Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Mozart's "Alloulia."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The OPA tonight announced food price increases which it said will add $60,000,000 a year to the nation's food bill, along with boosts on cotton textiles and other items.

The food price action is an increase of two and one-half cents a pound in retail prices of oleomargarine, cooking and salad oils, mayonnaise, salad dressing and shortening, effective tomorrow.

Prices of cotton textile fabrics and yarns were raised about two per cent. This is the fourth cotton increase since August 1. The OPA said it will increase the retail prices of bed linen and tablecloths about two per cent and cotton garments one per cent.

Five-Fold Boost In Air Mail Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Post Office Department foresees a five-fold increase in air mail volume by 1948 as a result of the new nickel-an-ounce rate effective at midnight tonight.

This increase will expand the nation's commercial air fleet from the present 700 which carry mail to 3,000, Second Assistant Postmaster General Gail Sullivan, who has charge of all mail transportation, told an interviewer.

Sullivan predicted that air mail volume will hit 150,000,000 pounds a year starting in 1948. This would mean that one of every three non-local, first class letters would travel by air.

"Too Much Pessimism," Eisenhower Declares

BERLIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today that there is "too much pessimism in the world about international relations," and added "we are progressing toward the point where even if my profession will be permanently out of a job."

"We have evidence here," the General said, "that international co-operation is not a dead issue in the world but something that is growing and will continue to grow."

The United States Army chief of staff on a tour of European military installations, told a packed news conference:

"These are days of pessimism concerning international relationships, and at the risk of being called Pollyannaish I think there's too much pessimism and too much discounting of progress made."

"After all, the world has just completed the greatest global war in history. Whole economies have been disrupted. People are worried about the future, about their own personal futures. Possibly only a few leaders in the world are thinking clearly."

Lewis Will Be Absent From UMW Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 30 (AP)—Some 3,000 delegates to the United Mine Workers of America (UMW) convention will meet here tomorrow and for the first time in 40 years John L. Lewis, their colorful, bushy-browed leader, will be absent.

Lewis, who underwent an appendectomy at Washington, D. C., last Friday, was reported tonight to be sitting up in bed "just reading the papers." In his place as chairman of the convention will be John O'Leary, the union's vice president.

Highlight of tomorrow's opening session was an address by William Green, AFL president.

As the strike deadline approached, officials of the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union (APL) and the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association (MEBA) reported they had sent word to 120 ships moored in Baltimore harbor that the walkout would be postponed, at least until after meetings tomorrow morning at which progress of wage negotiations by national headquarters could be ascertained.

Meetings of both locals are scheduled for 10 a. m. Union headquarters remained open long into the night waiting for word of a rumored settlement.

L. A. Snyder, local business agent for the engineers, said: "Not having heard officially from our Washington headquarters, men are going to remain on the job through the night."

"Even should the strike be called," he added, "our engineers will be on the job until late Wednesday. We want to see that the owners have an opportunity to remove all perishables."

Capt. R. F. Lowe, president of the deck officers' local, said: "Although our contract expires at midnight, our men will remain aboard their ships. It is our hope that the dispute can be settled without a strike. The recent 16-day strike was enough."

Air Speed Device Falls From Plane, Crashes Into School

PORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—An air speed instrument, trailing from the Army's giant XB-36 bomber, was severed in air today and crashed through the roof of an elementary school building here, injuring seven children in a room inside.

The 50-pound instrument was suspended from the plane by a 75-foot fabric covered cable, and was parted at an altitude of about 10,000.

None of the students was hit directly. They were injured by bits of steel and concrete flying from the instrument and the school roof after the impact.

Accused Killer's Trial Is Shifted

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., Sept. 30 (AP)—Trial of Ross J. Abbott, 24, accused of slaying his sweetheart after she jilted him, today was ordered moved to Dorchester County Circuit Court at Cambridge after his attorneys asked for a change of venue.

Circuit Judge Levin Claude Bailey entered the order after a hearing at the Deal Island jail where he pleaded he could not have a fair trial in Somerset county because there are so many relatives and friends of the girl's family in the area.

Under Maryland law, petitions for change of venue are granted automatically in cases where death may be the punishment.

Somerset County State's Attorney Prentiss W. Evans indicated the case will be docketed for the next criminal term at Cambridge, scheduled for the first week in November.

Abbott, twice-wounded army veteran, had been scheduled to go on trial here Tuesday morning.

He was indicted last week for the first degree murder of Pansy Twigg, 30-year-old Deal Island girl slain July 19 while she was swimming with chums near her home.

Greek Premier Fails To Form New Cabinet

ATHENS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Royalist Premier Constantine Tsaldaris' efforts to form a Greek coalition government remained unsuccessful tonight despite all-day conferences of political leaders.

Two opposition leaders—both former premiers—said after a conference with the Tsaldaris' Socialist 86-year-old Liberal Party leader that a number of "fundamental points" remained to be cleared up before any definite announcement could be made on participation in the new government.

This was interpreted in some quarters as an indication that Tsaldaris was seriously considering Republican demands for a radical change in government policy and a voice in the composition of the new Cabinet.

Plane Flying

more than 200 miles an hour aided by favorable winds, and was expected to reach the Oregon coast by 1 a. m. E.S.T.

However, the "Turtle" could have made radio contact with two weather ships, one designated "George" about 1,700 miles offshore, and the other designated "Dog" about 900 miles off the coast.

The last report from the "Turtle" with its crew of four officers and a baby kangaroo came at 10 a. m. when the plane was about 550 miles south and east of Midway.

That was some 5,300 miles from Perth, Australia, where the Lockheed P2V Neptune took off at 5:10 a. m. E.S.T. At that point the plane was well over half-way toward a world distance record and averaging 218 miles an hour.

The recognized record is 7,916 miles set by the Army's B-29 "Dreamboat" last November in a flight from Guam to Washington. The Army Air Forces made a claim of 8,198 miles for the Dreamboat, taking in deviations from the planned course, but only the direct Great Circle distance has been officially recorded.

Union Members Remain On Ships At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—Despite earlier plans to strike at midnight, some 960 merchant marine dock officers and engineers remained aboard their ships tonight, acting on advice of their local union leaders.

As the strike deadline approached, officials of the Masters, Mates and Pilots Union (APL) and the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association (MEBA) reported they had sent word to 120 ships moored in Baltimore harbor that the walkout would be postponed, at least until after meetings tomorrow morning at which progress of wage negotiations by national headquarters could be ascertained.

Meetings of both locals are scheduled for 10 a. m. Union headquarters remained open long into the night waiting for word of a rumored settlement.

L. A. Snyder, local business agent for the engineers, said: "Not having heard officially from our Washington headquarters, men are going to remain on the job through the night."

"Even should the strike be called," he added, "our engineers will be on the job until late Wednesday. We want to see that the owners have an opportunity to remove all perishables."

Capt. R. F. Lowe, president of the deck officers' local, said: "Although our contract expires at midnight, our men will remain aboard their ships. It is our hope that the dispute can be settled without a strike. The recent 16-day strike was enough."

Freight Rate Probe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Justice Department announced tonight that it will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine whether the railroads overcharged the government on the Army's wartime traffic.

Thousands of German prisoners of war were on a sitdown strike tonight in the United States Army penitentiary base section which supplies American occupation forces in Venezia Giulia.

In Rome, there were reports that the strike movement could be expected to spread tomorrow to Britain and perhaps other countries where German prisoners of war are held.

Officials in London, however, said there was no indication of any strike threats in prisoner of war camps in Britain.

Many of the striking prisoners—there are 24,000 in the area—have been transferred under heavy guard from work camps to detention camps.

United States Army officers at peninsula base staff headquarters here were silent about the movement, which has been taking shape for several days. However, it was learned that the chief demand made by the prisoners was for early repatriation.

Peace Commission Adopts Principle Of Free Danube

Opposition From Russian-Led Slavic States Is Overridden

PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—A peace conference commission approved today a principle of international freedom of navigation on the Danube.

Overriding opposition from the Russian-led Slavic states, delegates on the Balkan and Finland Economic Commission wrote into the Romanian treaty broad guarantees for freedom of navigation on Southern Europe's greatest waterway.

The decision foreshadowed similar action on the treaties with Hungary and Bulgaria.

Simultaneously, the commission inserted provisions for a Danubian conference of all Rhiparian states and the Big Four within the next six months to draft definite traffic rules applicable to all shipping.

Coinciding with U. S. proposals, this move coincided with the United States proposal now before the United Nations Economic and Social Conference in Vienna before November 1 to resolve problems now obstructing the resumption of international traffic on the Danube.

But the eight-to-five vote, with India abstaining, only temporarily decided the Danube issue, for a two-thirds majority was not obtained and it was doubtful whether it would be when the Romanian treaty comes before the full conference.

The four-power Foreign Ministers' Council has the final word in drafting.

The five Slavic nations on the commission voted solidly against the measure.

Hungary's Armed Forces Limited

The military commission, meanwhile, completed examination of military clauses of all five treaties, rushing the Hungarian and Finnish treaties through to completion.

Delegates agreed to limit Hungary to military forces totaling 45,000 men and an air force of 5,000 men with 70 fighters and 20 reconnaissance planes. Finland's armed forces were set at 34,400 men for the army, 4,500 men and 10,000 tons of ships for the navy, and 3,000 men and 60 planes for the air force.

On Russian insistence, Czechoslovakia withdrew a proposed amendment to force Hungary to destroy fortifications along their common border, although similar provisions had been written into the Bulgarian treaty for Greece and the Italian treaty for France and Yugoslavia.

22 Defendants

The Nazi generals were a "disgrace to the honorable profession of war," said the SA leaders who pushed around von Naxos in Hitler's early days, lost their positions after the 1934 purge, the judgment said, and were unimportant in making decisions.

The Reich Cabinet, likewise, was termed a very minor factor in shaping Hitler's terror-stricken military regime.

"Not a single meeting of the Reich Cabinet was held after 1937," the document said. "The Cabinet was not consulted."

Hess Does Not Use Earphones

The Leadership Corps was composed of minor fuhrers, block leaders and other kinsmen in the Nazi setup.

The Leadership Corps was used for purposes which were criminal under the charter and involved the Germanization of the incorporated territory, the persecution of Jews, the administration of the days, lost program and the mistreatment of prisoners of war, the judgment said.

The defendants Bormann and (Fritz) Sauckel, who were members of this organization, were among those who used it for these purposes. The gauleiters, the kreisleiters and the Ortsgruppenleiter participated to one degree or another, in these criminal programs.

All defendants except Rudolf Hess listened intently as the eight justices took turns reading the judgment. Hess, Hitler's unpredictable shadow from the days of the 1923 Munich putsch until he parachuted to Scotland, did not use his earphones, over which the judgment was translated into German.

In the middle of the afternoon session, the former deputy fuhrer was doubled up with what appeared to be an attack of stomach cramps, and was returned to his little cell in the jail behind the court house.

Anderson Rules

The ranges, beef and pork and mutton that comes from them.

The finding that meat animals are still in short supply laid the groundwork for Anderson to turn down a petition for meat decontrol which the OPA Beef Industry Advisory Committee plans to present October 8.

Tomatoes Still Under Control

OPA, quickly following up on the Agriculture Department's report, announced these principal items taken from under ceilings on the canned fruit shelves: Yellow cling and freestone peaches, and their juices and nectars; Bartlett and Kieffer pears and their juices and nectars; apples and applejuice; fruit cocktail and mixed fruits.

Among canned vegetables, only tomatoes and tomato products are left under control.

In fresh fruits and vegetables, only dry edible beans and peas are now subject to ceilings.

Thompson, addressing the American Retail Federation, based his prediction of fast decontrol on the idea that rapidly expanding production indicates there will be "less and less need, month by month, for price control on many fronts."

The Army said it is negotiating with packers who have South American plants for a part of the Argentine meat supply not already contracted to Great Britain. That country recently made a deal for all but 17 per cent of the Argentine exportable surplus for the next two years.

Bracey also announced that more than half of the 1,700 seats available for the concert have been sold, a month before the concert is scheduled. He added that over 300 mail orders have been filled for out-of-town music lovers.

All types of soprano songs are included in the first group on Miss Anderson's program. Five songs by Brahms will comprise her second group, including "Ein Wanderer" and "Sapphic Ode."

For her operatic aria, Miss Anderson will select a number from Massenet's "Herodiade."

An Irish tune, "The Sally Gardens" (Britten) will open the next group to be followed by "A Maiden" (Thomas), "Yarmouth Fair" (Warlock), "Summer Night" (Gibbs) and "Then Lights the Rolling Round" (Dreidland).

Negro spirituals make up the final group, and depending on the demands of the audience, Miss Anderson will add as encores Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Mozart's "Aleinida."

Veteran Asks That He Be Returned To Jail

Bernard Kenney, Westernport, veteran of World War II, who recently received a suspended jail sentence to enable him to receive treatment in a Veterans' Hospital, returned today and asked to finish his sentence.

Kenney once before walked into the office of Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce Jr. and asked to be sent to jail. He was later released to go to Perry Point Veterans' Hospital for treatment for a nervous condition. Yesterday he told Judge Bruce that the hospital treatment hadn't helped him so he "walked out" and would like to complete his sentence.

Kenney was convicted of assaulting Harry Hoberline at Westernport and drew the 60-day sentence. He is also under $500 bond awaiting action of the grand jury on charges of assaulting Magistrate A. W. DeJerman in Westernport.

Magistrate Bruce sent Kenney back to the county jail yesterday to finish the 60-day sentence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The OPA tonight announced food price increases which it said will add $60,000,000 a year to the nation's food bill, along with boosts on cotton, textile, some other fibers.

The food price action is an increase of two and one-half cents a pound in retail prices of oleomargarine, cooking and salad oils, mayonnaise, salad dressing and shortening, effective tomorrow.

Prices of cotton textile fabrics and yarns were raised about two per cent. This is the fourth cotton increase since August 1. The OPA said it will increase the retail prices of bed linen and tablecloths about two per cent and cotton garments one per cent.

Five-Fold Boost In Air Mail Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Post Office Department forecasts a five-fold increase in air mail volume by 1946 as a result of the new nickel-an-ounce rate effective at midnight tonight.

This increase will expand the nation's commercial air fleet from the present 700 which carry mail to 3,000, Second Assistant Postmaster General said today.

Sullivan predicted that air mail volume will hit 150,000,000 pounds a year starting in 1948. This would mean that one of every three non-local, first class letters would travel by air.

"Too Much Pessimism," Eisenhower Declares

BERLIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today that there is "too much pessimism in the world about international relations," and added "we are progressing toward the point where men of my profession will be permanently out of a job."

"We have evidence here," the General said, "that international cooperation is not a dead issue in the world but something that is growing and will continue to grow."

The United States Army chief of staff, on a tour of European military installations, told a packed news conference.

Concerning international relations, ships, and at the risk of being called Pollyanna I think there's too much pessimism and too much discounting of progress made."

"After all, the world has just completed the greatest global war (history). Whole economies have been disrupted. People are worried about the future, about their own personal futures. Possibly only a few leaders in the world are thinking clearly."

Highlight of tomorrow's opening session was an address by William Green, AFL president.

Meetings of both locals are scheduled for 10 a. m.

Union headquarters remained open long into the night waiting for word of a strike settlement.

L. A. Snyder, local business agent for the engineers, said: "Not having heard officially from our Washington headquarters, our men are going to remain on the job through the night."

"Even should the strike be called," he added, "our engineers will be on the job until late Wednesday. We want to see that the owners have an opportunity to remove all perishables."

Air Speed Device Falls From Plane, Crashes Into School

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—An air speed instrument, trailing from the Army's giant XB-36 bomber, was severed in air today and crashed through the roof of an elementary school building here, injuring seven children in a room inside.

The 50-pound instrument was suspended from the plane by a 75-foot fabric covered cable, and was parted at an altitude of about 10,000.

None of the students was hit directly. They were injured by bits of steel and concrete flying from the instrument and the school roof after the impact.

Accused Killer's Trial Is Shifted

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., Sept. 30 (AP)—Trial of Ross J. Abbott, 24, accused of slaying his sweetheart after she jilted him, today was ordered moved to Dorchester County Circuit Court at Cambridge after his attorneys asked for a change of venue.

Circuit Judge Levin Claude Bailey entered the order after counsel for the Deaf Island war veteran pleaded he could not have a fair trial in Somerset county because there are so many relatives and friends of the girl's family in the area.

Under Maryland law, petitions for change of venue are granted automatically in cases where death may be the punishment.

Somerset County State's Attorney Prentiss W. Evans indicated the case will be docketed for the next criminal term at Cambridge, scheduled for the first week in November.

Abbott, twice-wounded army veteran, had been scheduled to go on trial here Tuesday morning.

He was indicted last week for the first degree murder of Pansy Twigg, 20-year-old Deaf Island girl slain July 19 while she was swimming with chums near her home.

Greek Premier Fails To Form New Cabinet

ATHENS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Royalist Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris' efforts to form a Greek coalition government remained unsuccessful tonight despite all-day conferences of political leaders.

Two opposition leaders—both former premiers—said after a conference with Themistoklis Sophoulis, 26-year-old Liberal Party leader, that a number of "fundamental points" remained to be cleared up before any definite announcement could be made on participation in the new government.

This was interpreted in some quarters as an indication that Tsaldaris was seriously considering Republican demands for a radical change in government policy and a voice in the composition of the new Cabinet.

more than 200 miles an hour, aided by favorable winds, and was expected to reach the Oregon coast by 1 a. m. EST.

The "Turtle" could have made radio contact with two weather ships, one designated "George" at 1,700 miles offshore, and the other designated "Dog" about 900 miles off the coast.

The last report from the "Turtle" with its crew of four officers and a baby kangaroo came at 10 a. m. when the plane was about 550 miles south and east of Midway.

That was some 5,300 miles from Perth, Australia, where the Lockheed P2V Neptune took off at 8:10 a. m. EST Sunday. At that point the plane was well over half-way toward a world distance record and averaging 218 miles an hour.

The recognized record is 7,916 miles set by the Army's B-29 "Dreamboat" last November in a flight from Guam to Washington.

The Army Air Forces made a claim of 8,188 miles for the Dreamboat, but when the plane was about 550 miles south and east of Midway.

Seven civilians were arrested, all of them Italians and members of pro-Yugoslav Communist organizations. United States investigation officers said. All denied complicity in the attack.

"Painless Childbirth" Method Is Described

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30 (AP)—A new method of "painless childbirth" was described today by 34-year old Dr. Julian Lansing Miles III, associate obstetrician at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy.

Dr. Miles told a press conference the technique involved artificial stimulation of labor through hypodermic injection of pitocin, a derivative of the pituitary gland, and is combined with the continuous caudal analgesia (partial anesthesia through spinal injection) method.

The injection pitocin activates the longitudinal muscles of the uterus, thus starting the birth process.

The mother, said Dr. Miles, remains awake and conscious at all times during childbirth. Of 263 test cases, in which there were no mortalities, the longest delivery was four hours, the shortest 35 minutes.

Mrs. John Pettit, 28-year-old brunette from Westmont, N. J., told reporters she ate a piece of cake and drank a glass of milk as she comfortably gave birth to a six-pound, 14-ounce girl last Wednesday.

Plenty Of Meat Is Found In Freezing Plant

BOSTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Inspectors ordered into action by Democratic Gov. Maurice J. Tobin today found 6,000,000 pounds of dressed meat in a freezing plant even as a congressional committee heard conflicting suggestions for methods to end the beef famine.

Massachusetts State Police and public health inspectors reported to Tobin that 2,000,000 pounds of the meat is owned by the Army while the remaining 4,000,000 pounds is privately held.

Tobin immediately wired Secretary of War Patterson asking the Army to release 25 per cent of its allotment to meet critical hospital needs.

Freight Rate Probe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Justice Department announced tonight that it will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine whether the railroads overcharged the government on the Army's wartime traffic.

Probe Of Canol Oil Project Ends

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Senators learned today that the top American military men who insisted in 1943 that the Canol oil project must be completed had decided a month earlier to report back the Alaskan serial offensive it was designed to support.

This was disclosed by a memorandum secured from Navy Department files as the Senate War Investigating Committee wound up an inquiry into the Canol project, a multi-million dollar wartime effort to develop an oil field in Northern Canada.

Adm. Ernest J. King, wartime chief of naval operations, was the only witness at the session which dealt chiefly with King's objections to a committee report earlier this month on Canol. King, contending the report unjustly criticized him personally, demanded a retraction.

In the course of nearly three hours of heated give-and-take, it was developed that:

1. The chiefs of staff decided in September 1943 to "withdraw all possible forces from Alaska and concentrate them elsewhere."
2. The following October 26, the chiefs of staff recommended continuation of Canol as a wartime necessity. It had cost $100,000,000 at that time and it was estimated that $35,000,000 would be needed to complete it.
3. An intelligence report was received by the Navy from its attaché at Ottawa in February, 1943, which said responsible Canadian oil men believed the Canol project was "due to fail."

The nearest thing to a conclusion reached on King's complaint was a comment by Chairman Kilgore (D-W.Va.) that he was willing to spread the blame to "the whole bunch," meaning the joint chiefs of staff.

Forrestal Pays Tribute To "Maryland" Warships

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal paid tribute tonight to two fighting ships of the Navy and presented their battle flags to the Maryland Historical Society.

He lauded the war exploits of the 3,500-ton battleship Maryland and the 13,600-ton heavy cruiser Baltimore, which he revealed was the cruiser which in 1944 carried President Roosevelt to Pearl Harbor to plan the Philippine invasion.

The battleship Maryland, which the Japanese sunk at Pearl Harbor, "was a ghost ship which came back to haunt her enemy," Forrestal declared.

She was under direct enemy attack 100 times, he said, and took part in the battle of Suragao Straits during the Philippine campaign in 1945. "The highest invasion force in the history of warfare."

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl, 17, Who Talks Of "Eating Heart Out,"
Probably Is Dramatizing A Little

By HEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love
And Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17½ years old and have been in love with a fellow almost four years. He knows I love him, because I almost told him so, yet, when he sees me, he talks and jokes as he would with his sisters. I don't like this because I always think he is doing it to make fun of me behind my back. What do you think?

Another thing, he told me one night that he would take me out for graduation. Do you think I should go? Maybe he was doing this because he knows I love him, and just to satisfy me. Should I tell him, on graduation, about his promise, or just forget about it and eat my heart out until it's worn and sick?

"JACKIE" that you are doing your worrying far in advance when you are giving so much thought to what you are going to do about your graduation. That must be a long way off, and a lot of things can happen before then. If I were you, I would not start on this problem until you're a little nearer to the time when it comes up.

If it will help you to stop doing this advance worrying, however, I will answer the question you asked, about whether or not you should go to the graduation with this young man, since he has invited you. Certainly, why not?

If you are only 17½ now and have been thinking about this boy for the past four years, don't you think you began a little early to make up your mind on the big question of love? Give yourself a bit more time, and see a lot more of boys, before you decide that any of them is the one for you. At your age, you should be having good times with many people.

And don't you think you are dramatizing yourself a little when you talk about "eating your heart out?" Hearts are a lot tougher than you, at 17, have had a chance to find out yet, and they stand an awful lot of wear. If you give yourself a chance, I feel sure that one day it will pick out the right man for you.

Quiz For Marylanders

By QUENTIN HOWE

Answer to Question 1:

Maryland's "Cinderella Horse" was a public idol named Chase Me. Chase Me was born at Mrs. Bosley's farm in Baltimore County, the son of a mare abandoned by her owners. The Bosley children made a pet of Chase Me and rode him as a saddle horse until he was five. His first start was at Havre de Grace and to everyone's amazement, he won. What was more amazing he then raced for a year against the finest horses in the land and was never defeated. At Belmont Park, racing against the immortal Equipoise, he stumbled, fell with a broken hip and died on the track. No one will ever know how great a horse Chase Me really was.

Answer to Question 2:

It may be a surprise to know that you—and your friends and neighbors in Maryland—perpetuate fine horse racing. It is the people of Maryland and the horsemen who bring their horses to Maryland who support fine horse racing. It is their contribution—and theirs alone—that supports fine horse racing in the Old Free State.

1 WHO WAS MARYLAND'S FAMOUS "CINDERELLA HORSE"?

2 IN MARYLAND, WHO PERPETUATES FINE HORSE RACING?

Answer to Question 3:

We leave it to you to decide which comes first at Pimlico—purses or profits. In an average year at Pimlico, out of every dollar taken in, 34 cents goes to the State and Federal Treasury, 22 cents goes to purses for horsemen, 23 cents goes to operate the track, most of which is wages and of the money left, less than 2 cents goes to the Maryland Jockey Club owners. So you can see for yourself, at Pimlico purses to horsemen come first and profits come last. (19)

SUNOCO
DYNAFUEL

Test Dynafuel in your car—see if it doesn't give

Smoother high-test action
than premium-priced gasolines
... and you save up to 2¢ a gallon

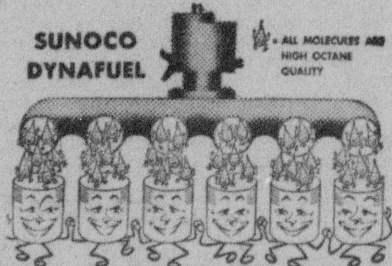

We believe no gasoline, even premium-priced, can match Dynafuel's incomparable smoothness

HERE'S WHY: ALL gasolines (including Sunoco Dynafuel) are composed of "light" and "heavy" molecules. As the gasoline goes into the cylinders from the carburetor, some of the "heavy" molecules separate from the rest of the gasoline and go to certain cylinders which get most of the "heavy" molecules, while other cylinders get mostly "light" molecules.

IN MOST OTHER GASOLINES the "heavy" molecules are low in octane quality... but the "light" molecules are high octane. The cylinders receiving the low grade "heavy" molecules do not receive the same high knockless quality as other cylinders.

IN SUNOCO DYNAFUEL, all molecules, both "heavy" and "light," deliver equally high octane power. No matter whether a cylinder receives "light" or "heavy" molecules, that cylinder and all cylinders receive uniformly high knockless quality.

Blind Students Go To High School

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Eleven young blind Kentuckians are attending Louisville high schools this fall. The first six students to be admitted to any public schools in the state.

The eight boys and three girls received their previous education at the Kentucky State School for the Blind here and will continue to receive instruction at the institution.

Sending a selected group to public high schools is an experiment on the part of Paul Langan, director of the school for the blind. He believes that mixing with sighted students and learning to find their way about will prepare blind young persons for their entrance into normal social and business circles.

Reading from textbooks printed in braille and taking their notes on braille pocket "slates," the students say they have no trouble keeping up with their seeing classmates. Themes and other written "homework" is done on regular typewriters, since all have studied touch typing at the school for the blind.

Because the eleven cannot write examination answers with pen or pencil and the teachers cannot read braille, instructors give them oral quizzes.

Blind Students Go To High School
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Eleven young blind Kentuckians are attending Louisville high schools this fall—the first sightless students to be admitted to any public schools in the state.

The eight boys and three girls received their previous education at the Kentucky State School for the Blind here and will continue to reside at the institution.

Sending a selected group to public high schools is an experiment the part of Paul Rogers, director of the school for the blind. He believes that mixing with sighted students and learning to find their way about will prepare blind young persons for their entrance into normal social and business circles.

Reading from textbooks printed in braille and taking their notes on braille pocket "slates," the students say they have no trouble keeping up with their seeing classmates. Themes and other written "homework" is done on regular typewriters, since all have studied touch typing at the school for the blind.

Because the eleven cannot write examination answers with pen or pencil and the teachers cannot read braille, instructors give them oral quizzes.

Horsemen Agree To Lift Boycott On State Tracks

Compromise Reached 36 Hours Before Opening Of Laurel Meet

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission announced today that it had reached a compromise with the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association ending a boycott of the state's tracks.

The compromise came barely 36 hours before the scheduled opening of a 25-day meeting at Laurel Park on Wednesday.

The commission agreed to accept full responsibility for horses after they are placed in the receiving barns, and each will be given a mandatory pre-race saliva test.

If this test is positive, the horse will immediately be ordered scratched.

The commission thus reversed a previous ruling in which it had made the use of receiving barns mandatory but refused to take responsibility for the horses.

The agreement followed a four-hour session between the commission and the HBPA which claims to represent some 85 percent of the horse owners east of the Mississippi.

The horsemen's earlier refusal to consider the receiving-barn scheme, and the insistence of Chairman George P. Mahoney of the racing commission that it was necessary for protection of horses and the racing public, led to the deadlock resolved by today's compromise.

One of the association's most emphatic objections was that "nervous" horses would turn in substandard performances if they were required to be stable in receiving barns in unfamiliar surroundings.

"Any horse in the race may be subject to a post-race test by order of the stewards," but if any horse is found positive of being drugged or drugged by test after the race, the owner or trainer shall not be held responsible, x x x and no charges will be preferred."

Hearing Room Jammed

Scheduled as an open session, the meeting progressed one hour in a jammed hearing room, but when it was apparent that the HBPA and the Commission were far apart on the receiving-barn issue, Mahoney summoned the group to a closed session in his office.

The final agreement followed three hours later.

John McDowell of Boston, national secretary-treasurer of the HBPA, said that after the commission adopted the rule taking responsibility in the receiving barns, a hitch developed on the "nervous" horses.

This latter point was raised at the insistence of Dan Chappelle, Miami, Fla., member of the Sunshine State and HBPA, who said Chappelle said in the open hearing that many horses were nervous in strange surroundings and should not be compelled to go to receiving barns.

McDowell said later that the commission agreed informally that trainers would notify stewards in such cases and that the commission in turn would be advised.

To Place Special Guard

"Stewards will watch such horses to see if they react favorably or unfavorably to the barns, and if observation shows they are unfit for racing, a special guard will be placed over the horse in his own stable," McDowell said.

The commission ruled that the racing association must assign a watchman to each horse in the receiving barn to remain in his presence until the horses are saddled and leave the paddock for the track.

Johnny Wins In Hurry

In the second bout, Danny's brother Johnny, tipping the beam at 144, knocked out Eddie Luce, a substitute from Johnston, in the first time of one minute, six seconds in the first round. Two punches to the stomach sent Luce, making his debut, to the canvas holding his head. He was counted out while lying flat on his back. Luce substituted for Ronnie Moore, of Johnston.

James E. Kelley, Jr., of this city, refereed the first two bouts on the card. Roman handled the third and Eddie McQuade, of the Maryland State Athletic Commission, worked the last two. Sammy Cozad told the customers what it was all about over the public address system. John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh bested the going with a hammer and Harry Nelson and Howard "Red" Bush were the judges.

Bow, Arrow Hunters Bag Wisconsin Deer

NEEDHAM, Wis., Sept. 30 (AP)—Bow and arrow hunters brought down 76 deer in the first two days of a 45-day season in the Needham National Wildlife Refuge, the State Conservation Department reported today.

Chris Bersing of the department's game management division said 2,000 hunters were in the area over the weekend and that 2,700 permits had been issued for bow and arrow hunting.

Roman Is Louis Booster Says Champ Is Generous Gene Provided Groceries Clark Was Comp "Guest" By C. V. BURNS

Joe Louis is not only a great champion in the ring but he's a swell fellow outside the fistic arena.

That's the opinion expressed by a former Cumberland, who has been in close contact with the world's heavyweight titleholder since shortly before the Brown Bomber's first fight with Billy Conn.

In fact, Gene Roman, referee of the New Jersey State Boxing Commission, who conducts a wholesale grocery business in Paterson, N. J., tells a human interest story in which Louis plays a leading role.

Roman, incidentally, furnished groceries for the Louis training camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J., eight miles from Paterson, and became well acquainted with the busiest champion in heavyweight history.

Stressing the point that Louis is a generous and sympathetic person, Roman cited the case of little Johnny Chief, Paterson youth, who was paralyzed from the hips down after being severely wounded in an engagement with the Japs.

The townspeople, Roman relates, raised enough money to buy Chief a "dream house" and the labor unions of the community did their part in honoring Johnny by giving their services gratis in erecting the dwelling. Even the kids of the town helped the cause by conducting a house-to-house canvass to procure nails, which were scarce.

Gene relates that on one of his trips to Pompton Lakes, he invited Louis to come to Paterson for the dedication ceremony and the championship lost no time accepting, knocking out training for the Mauriello bout to keep the engagement.

Negro Heavy Contenders To Fight In Garden November 15

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The campaign to provide a 1947 heavyweight challenger to be served up to Joe Louis got under way today with the signing of Jersey Joe Walcott and Elmer (The Violent) Ray for a ten-round bout in Madison Square Garden November 15.

Walcott and Ray have been regarded as leaders of the parade of heavyweights since Louis's knockout triumphs this year over Billy Conn and Tami Mauriello.

Baksi is included in the list, as is British Empire Heavyweight Champion Bruce Woodcock and Mauriello, Conn also would like to be put in the package, and recently announced he's willing to put on a return with Joe and give his entire purse to charity.

Polet May Face Branca In Opener At St. Louis

CARDS INSTALLED SLIGHT FAVORITES TO BEAT DODGERS

National Loop Playoff Series Starts Today; Winner Gains Right To Battle Red Sox

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Those unpredictable, unreliable, untamed Brooklyn Dodgers meet the Cardinals tomorrow at Sportsman's Park in the first of a three-game playoff to decide which of the two off to decide which of the two National League clubs must stand up and take it, unflinchingly, from the Boston Red Sox in the world series.

The odds on the Cardinals were 10-13 and on Brooklyn 11-10. In other words, a $13 bet placed on St. Louis would win $10, and $10 backing Brooklyn would win $11.

Except for the monetary reward, the prospect is not pleasant. The winner is sure to be a weary, beaten-down crew when it finally comes to grips with the American leaguers about a week from today. But that will make the series starting tomorrow none the less bitter.

The odds tonight, stated by one of the country's top betting commissioners, James J. Carroll, made the slump-ridden Cardinals strong favorites to win the play-off—first in the history of organized baseball. A $20 bet placed on the Red Sox would win only $13, while a $10 wager on the Brooks would return $13.

The Cardinals, who blew a chance to sew up the title late yesterday when they were beaten by the Chicago Cubs in their final tussle, went through a workout today. Manager Eddie Dyer said his starting pitcher tomorrow would be either Howie Pollet, a lefthander of recently dubious ability, or Murry Dickson, a right-hander.

The Brooklyn, who gained a reprieve after being shut out in their final game against the Boston Braves yesterday at Ebbets Field, spent last night and most of today on the cars.

Besselman And Walker Steal Show At Armory

Former Wins Slugfest; 526 See Tesla Kayo Pope; Freedman-Lyons Main Go Disappoints

A pair of slugging preliminary bouts—Jack Besselman, of Lawrenceville, Pa., and Jesse Walker, 149-pounder of Pittsburgh—brought the show to a close with a spectacular fight. Besselman, who won the fight by a knockout in the fourth round, was the main attraction of the evening. The fight was a slugfest, with both men exchanging heavy blows. Besselman landed a series of punches that knocked Walker out. The fight was a highlight of the evening's entertainment.

FIGHT RESULTS

Tommy Beisel, 133, Cumberland, knocked out Danny Booth, 138, Eckhart in four rounds. Johnny Booth, 144, Eckhart, knocked out Eddie Luce, 140, Johnstown, Pa., in 1 minute, 6 seconds of the opening round of a scheduled four rounder. Joe Tesla, 156, of the Zan Athletic Club, Morgantown, W. Va., knocked out Johnny Pope, 152, Johnstown, Pa., in 2 minutes, 47 seconds of the fourth round of a scheduled six-round fight. Jack Besselman, 149, Lawrenceville, Pa., knocked out Jesse Walker, 149, Pittsburgh, in six rounds. Ralph Freedman, 172, Pittsburgh, knocked out Jackie Lyons, 168, Latrobe, Pa., in ten rounds.

Horsemen Agree To Lift Boycott On State Tracks

Compromise Reached 36 Hours Before Opening Of Laurel Meet

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission announced after a hearing today it had reached a compromise with the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association ending a boycott of the state's tracks.

The compromise came barely 36 hours before the scheduled opening of a 25-day meeting at Laurel Park on Wednesday.

The commission agreed to accept full responsibility for horses after they are placed in the receiving barn, and each will be given a mandatory pre-race saliva test.

If this test is positive, the horse will immediately be ordered scratched.

The commission also reversed a previous ruling in which it had made the use of receiving barns mandatory but refused to take responsibility for the horses.

The agreement followed a four-hour session between the commission and the HBPA which claims to represent some 95 percent of the horse owners east of the Mississippi.

The horsemen's earlier refusal to consider the receiving-barn scheme, and the insistence of Chairman George P. Mahoney of the racing commission that it was necessary for protection of horses and the racing public, led to the deadlock.

One of the association's most emphatic objections was that "nervous" horses would turn in substandard performances if they were required to be stabled in receiving barns in unfamiliar surroundings.

"Any horse in the race may be subject to a post-race test by order of the stewards," the commission's new ruling declared, "but if any horse is found positive of being stimulated or drugged by test after the race, the owner or trainer shall not be held responsible, x x x and no charges will be preferred."

The final agreement followed three hours later.

John McDowell of Boston, national secretary-treasurer of the HBPA, said that after the commission adopted the rule taking responsibility for the horses, he was satisfied.

This latter point was raised at the insistence of Dan Chappelle, Miami, Fla., owner of the Sunshine Stable and HBPA counsel. Chappelle said in the open hearing that many horses were nervous in strange surroundings and should not be compelled to go to receiving barns.

McDowell said later that the commission agreed informally that trainers would notify stewards in such cases and that the commission in turn would be advised.

To Place Special Guard

"Stewards will watch such horses to see if they react favorably or unfavorably to the barns, and if observation shows they are unfit for racing, a special guard will be placed over the horse in his own stable," McDowell said.

The commission ruled that the racing association must assign a watchman to each horse in the receiving barn to remain in his presence until the horses are saddled and leave the paddock for the track.

McDowell said.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano, whose stirring middleweight championship fight at Yankee stadium last Friday still has the fans talking, have been signed for a return title engagement at Madison Square Garden March 21, Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today.

Zale successfully defended his title by knocking out the hard-punching New Yorker in the sixth round after being down once himself and subjected to such a savage beating it appeared he would be the one unable to finish.

Bow, Arrow Hunters Bag Wisconsin Deer

NECEDAH, Wis., Sept. 30 (AP)—Bow and arrow hunters brought down 76 deer in the first two days of a 45-day season in the Necedah National Wildlife Refuge, the State Conservation Department reported today.

Otis Bering of the department's game management division said 2,000 hunters were in the area over the weekend and that 2,700 permits had been issued for bow and arrow hunting.

Gene relates that on one of his trips to Pompton Lakes, he invited Louis to come to Pompton for the dedication ceremony and the champion lost no time accepting, knocking off training for the Maurelio bout to keep the engagement.

"Joe arrived at 11 a. m. during a heavy downpour of rain but that failed to stop him," Roman asserted. "I offered to carry him through the mud but he declined with thanks and waded through it almost up to his ankles to accept the honor of driving the first nail. It was a great moment in Chief's life. In fact, Johnny was so elated he was unable to hold back his tears."

Roman, says that Louis then invited Johnny to come to his camp, promising the badly crippled war veteran that "I'll knock somebody down for you if you accept the invitation."

Chief was given a state police escort to camp and Louis kept his word, giving the veteran a thrill when he floored one of his sparring partners.

Not entirely satisfied he had done enough for the wounded vet, Louis inquired of Roman if there was anything he knew the vet needed. "I must buy him some kind of a gift," Joe said.

The next day the champ purchased a radio and electric heater and had it sent to Chief.

"I don't think the champ has any nerves. He never gets excited or jumpy and if the place collapsed around him he probably would say it's just too bad it had to happen."

Most people don't know it but Louis fed 38 persons at his

Roman Is Louis Booster Says Champ Is Generous Gene Provided Groceries Clark Was Camp "Guest"

By C. V. BURNS

Joe Louis is not only a great champion in the ring but he's a swell fellow outside the ring arena. That's the opinion expressed by a former Cumberlander, who has been in close contact with the world's heavyweight titleholder since shortly before the Brown Bomber's first affair with Billy Conn.

In fact, Gene Roman, referee of the New Jersey State Boxing Commission, who conducts a wholesale grocery business in Paterson, N. J., tells a human interest story in which Louis plays a leading role.

Roman, incidentally, furnished groceries for the Louis training camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J., eight miles from Paterson, and became well acquainted with the busiest champion in heavyweight history.

Bill Bottoms is chief, having charge of preparing all meals served to the camp staff.

All orders for the Louis camp, Roman observed, include pure carrot juice, which contains a vitamin most beneficial to the eyes. The Brown Bomber apparently is a firm believer in the saying: "You can't hit 'em if you can't see 'em."

"In my many contacts with the champ I've never heard him use a vulgar word," Gene asserted. "When he is not belting his sparring mates around he gets the greatest consolation out of closing himself in a room and playing records on his old-fashioned hand operated victrola."

"We've never had a heavyweight champion who went to the post like Louis. He obligingly gives his defeated foes a second chance and usually stiffens them quicker than in the first meeting."

Roman stated that Louis's associates at camp got quite a chuckle over an incident which occurred prior to the Maurelio fight.

While the Bomber was on the rubbing table, Promoter Mike Jacobs walked in and began lamenting the lack of publicity, blaming the newspaper shortage in New York as one of the chief reasons.

While Jacobs' false teeth were rattling, Louis looked up from the rubbing table and in all seriousness inquired:

"Mr. Mike, do you think you all will get enough paper to print the tickets for the fight?"

That one almost floored Mike and he wheeled and left the room without making a reply.

The one-time Western Maryland Railway brakeman and former professional boxer says Dave Clark, the Detroit heavyweight, is one of the most interesting characters around the Louis camp.

Clark was a highly ranged heavy at one time and was managed by Louis. Gus Lesnevich, the light-heavy champion, stopped Dave in one round the night the Bomber was in his corner and Roman was the referee.

Louis asked Clark to get into the ring for a sparring session during the champ's training grind at Pompton Lakes, and Dave made Joe laugh when he replied:

"Get away man, you're my manager and I'm ya guest. A boxer nevah fights his manager."

It seems that Dave is listed as camp "company."

A newspaperman asked Louis what Dave was doing around the camp and Joe said:

"Eatin'—that's all."

Clark hit Louis up for a "coupla bucks" quite often and on one occasion Louis asked him why he needed the money. "I gave ya $3 yesterday," said the champ.

"Five dollars, man," Clark

Walcott Paired With Elmer Ray

Negro Heavy Contenders To Fight In Garden November 15

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The campaign to provide a 1947 heavyweight contender to provide a triple main event card at the Municipal auditorium here Wednesday night.

Earlier Promoter Mike Jacobs revealed that Joe Baksi, the Kulpmont (Pa.) clubber who has been mentioned in the proposed elimination series to produce a 1947 contender, would make a trip to England to tangle with British Lightweight Champion Freddie Mills in London October 22.

Walcott and Ray have been regarded as leaders of the parade of heavyweights since Louis's knockout triumphs this year over Billy Conn and Tami Maurelio.

Baksi is included in the list, as is British Empire Heavyweight Champion Bruce Woodcock and Maurice Wilks, who would like to be put in the package, and recently announced he's willing to put on a re-run with Joe and give his entire purse to charity.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals were rated slight favorites to win the two-out-of-three playoff with the Brooklyn Dodgers for the National League pennant, starting here tomorrow, in odds announced today by Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll.

The odds on the Cardinals were 10-13 and on Brooklyn 11-10. In other words, a $13 bet placed on St. Louis would win $10, and $10 backing Brooklyn would win $11.

Fort Hill Leads Football Parade Sentinels Cop First Two; LaSalle Is Scoreless; AHS Loses Two

Fort Hill's Sentinels are leading the district football parade with a record of two victories in as many starts as they prepare for the contest with LaSalle High School Friday night.

Thirteen of the 14 district teams have played one or more games to date and Beall High School, Frostburg, is not slated to launch its campaign until October 19 when it does battle with Meyersdale in the Mountain City.

Allegheny, a leader in past years, has dropped its first two games by decisive margins while LaSalle has been unable to muster a scoring punch in two starts.

Only six touchdowns have been scored by three city teams and five of these are credited to Fort Hill players. Elmer Preeland and Don Sensabaugh have two each.

TICKETS GO ON SALE

BROOKLYN, Sept. 30 (AP)—There was another queue in Brooklyn this morning—seven abreast and two blocks long in the heart of the borough's downtown district—as Dodgers fans sought to buy 8,000 reserved seats for the playoff games with St. Louis.

The crowd, estimated at between 3,000 and 4,000 at 11 a. m. (EDT), began gathering at seven, two hours before tickets were scheduled to go on sale. Most of the fans shivered off the morning's rain, coming prepared with umbrellas, raincoats and, just in case, box lunches.

Oklahoma Tests Texas Saturday

Sooner Aggies Will Try To Stop Team That Scored 118 Points

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—The University of Texas was No. 8 on Oklahoma A. and M.'s touchdown list parade. That was when the Sooner Aggies were first emerging into the national limelight.

From that day in 1944—when Oklahoma A. and M. staged a last-quarter surge for two touchdowns to beat Texas 13-6—the Aggies rolled on to 30 straight victories over college teams.

Last Saturday Oklahoma A. and M. had a little wind taken out of its sails; it was tied 21-21 by low-rated Arkansas.

But still undefeated in more than two seasons, victorious in two bowl games—the Cotton in 1945 and Sugar in 1946—the Oklahoma Aggies come here Saturday to battle a Longhorn team that has rolled up 118 points against a couple of pretty good teams—Missouri and Colorado.

Navy Football Team Points For Columbia

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 30 (AP)—The Navy football team began extensive practice today for Saturday's game with Columbia and Coach Tom Hamilton said "plenty of work" was indicated "to eliminate mistakes like those we made against Villanova."

Hamilton said the coaching staff had reviewed the team's showing in the 7-0 Middle victory last Saturday and felt that much emphasis was needed on eliminating fumbling. Navy emerged from the tussle without appreciable injuries.

National Loop Playoff Series Starts Today; Winner Gains Right To Battle Red Sox

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Those unpredictable, unreliable, untamed Brooklyn Dodgers meet the Cardinals tomorrow at Sportsman's Park in the first of a three-game playoff to decide which of the two National League clubs must stand up and take it, unflinchingly, from the Boston Red Sox in the world series.

Except for the monetary reward, the prospect is not pleasant. The winner is sure to be a weary, beaten-down crew when it finally comes to grips with the American leaguers about a week from today. But that will make the series starting tomorrow none the less bitter.

The odds tonight, stated by one of the country's top betting commissioners, James J. Carroll, made the slump-ridden Cardinals strong favorites to win the play-off—first in the history of organized baseball. A $20 bet placed on the Red Birds would win only $13, while a $10 wager on the Brooks would return $13.

The Cardinals, who blew a chance to sew up the flag last yesterday when they were beaten by the Chicago Cubs in their final tussle, went through a workout today. Manager Eddie Dyer said his starting pitcher tomorrow would be either Howie Pollet, a lefthander of recently dubious ability, or Murry Dickson, a righthander.

The Brooklyn, who gained a reputation for being shut out in their finals against the Boston Braves yesterday at Ebbets Field, spent last night and most of today on the cars.

Manager Leo Durocher said he leaned strongly toward Ralph Branca, a rookie righthander, as his starter in the first game of the series. Branca hit the last time he faced them in Brooklyn.

Good warm, humid weather was promised for the first game.

Taken on almost any sound basis of reasoning, the Cards probably should win the play-off and play the Red Sox in the series. The only drawback to such a conclusion is that it never is quite safe to expect the Dodgers to do anything either sound or basic.

FANS BRAVE COLD

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—About 4,000 feverish baseball fans, chilled by the coldest weather since last winter, lined up at Sportsman's Park this morning as the Cardinals went on sale for tomorrow's opener of the National League pennant playoff series between the Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Over 500 fans stood in line all night, some warming themselves over wood fires as the temperature dropped to 47 degrees.

MUTUAL TO BROADCAST CARDS-DODGERS GAMES

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The mutual network, which at 2:15 p. m. EST tomorrow is to go on the air from St. Louis with play by play of the first game of the National League playoff between Brooklyn and St. Louis, will distribute to all of its affiliated stations, except those in New York and St. Louis.

Because of local commitments, separate broadcasts to the New York area will go via WJN and in St. Louis over WIL and WTMV.

Louisville Takes Lead In Little World Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 30 (AP)—Louisville defeated Montreal, 15 to 6, in the third contest of the 1946 Little World Series here tonight to take the lead, two games to one. The teams entrained immediately after the game for Montreal, where the series will be resumed Wednesday.

Herman's Named To Manage Bucs For Two Seasons

Billy Comes To Pirates In Player Swap With Boston Braves

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30 (AP)—Billy Herman, second baseman par excellence of the Boston Braves who has batted in the vicinity of .300 over his 15 major league years, today became the 20th manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Herman's selection as club pilot to succeed Frankie Frisch, who resigned Saturday after a seven-year tenure, was announced at a press conference by Club President Frank E. McKinney.

McKinney said Herman was acquired in a regular player deal in which Pittsburgh sends two 30-year-old players, infielder Bob Elliott and Catcher Hank Camelli, to Boston. In return, the Pirates get Herman, infielder William (Whitey) Wietmann, outfielder Stanley Wenzel and right-handed pitcher Elmer Singleton. No cash was involved.

"We negotiated a contract with Herman for two years at a figure substantially in excess of what the Pirates managers received in the past."

McKinney did not disclose what Herman will be paid, but said the figure was "close to 50 percent" more than was paid Frisch. Frisch was reported to have received $18,000 a year, which would mean Herman would draw about $27,000.

Herman said he was well pleased with the terms. He added that he hopes to play ball occasionally next year, "filling in where needed."

National Series Irks Joe Cronin

Boston Manager Figures One-Game Playoff Sufficient

BOSTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox were just being constipated since they clinched the series two weeks ago.

Manager Joe Cronin grumbled that it would be more of a "Thanksgiving series" than a "world series" unless the blue ribbon classic got underway pretty soon.

"Why three games in the first place?" he wanted to know. "Why not one game or two of a coin? Football's here and hockey opens in three weeks."

Two Of Radio's Oldtime Acts To Be Back Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Two of radio's oldtime acts—Amos and Andy and Fibber and Molly—return to the air Tuesday night. Other scheduling moves President Truman on all networks at 10:30 in a five-minute talk at the opening of the national community chest appeal.

Amos and Andy as well as Fibber and Molly return to their regular NBC periods, the former at 9 and the latter at 9:30. Both have had rather extensive vacations.

Among other developments is the start on NBC at 11:30 of "Your United Nations" series in which there will be a dramatization of UN each week. The first three broadcasts are to be devoted to a review.

Fifty-five minute tribute to Al Jolson at a testimonial dinner in New York is to be distributed by MBS at 10:35. Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, Kate Smith, Burns and Allen, Dinah Shore and many others are to join in Jimmy Walker, New York's former mayor, is the M. C.

Preparation to closing up the series, "Concert Time on ABC" is to be expanded to an hour at 9:30. Next week the Boston symphony will return to the air to take over this time.

American Forum of MBS at 9:30 is to turn its attention to "What are the Campaign Issues?" There will be the usual panel of four, divided equally between Republicans and Democrats.

Hope (Bob) will be at San Fran-

Pennsylvania Turnpike Extension Recommended

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 30 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce recommends extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to the Ohio state line near Pittsburgh and from Carlisle to Philadelphia.

The action was taken yesterday in a resolution authorized by the State Board of Directors, who also advocated construction of a similar highway through Pennsylvania to connect with the proposed New York-Ohio through highway.

The turnpike, a toll road through the mountains of Central and Western Pennsylvania, currently links Carlisle with a point near Pittsburgh, a distance of nearly 200 miles.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son,
George E. Hartman, who was killed in Holland, Oct. 1, 1944.

We miss your voice and cheerful smile.
That made each day seem worth the while.
Your helping hand and courage too,
That friends always admired in you.

The way you would grin and often play
With little children along the way.
How we miss you, George, you will never know, But it seems the best must always go.

You were so sweet in every way,
Your memory lives with us each day.
God took you dear, but the times why?
For a better home up in the sky.

Oh, what we would give to clasp your hand,
Your dear kind face to see.
Your loving smile, your welcome voice
That meant so much to me.

Sadly missed by his MOTHER, FATHER,
SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

Contributions of $98 were received by the NEWS from 13 individuals and organizations yesterday for the "Jones Family Fund" sending the total donated by citizens of the Tri-State area to $1,507.98 as the first week of the drive for funds came to a close.

It was a week ago today that the NEWS announced it would solicit funds to employ a housekeeper and help pay the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Jones, of Midland, together while the parents and their 13-year-old daughter, Betty Jean, are receiving treatment for tuberculosis in the State Sanatorium at Sabillasville.

Editors of the NEWS, as well as the "Jones Family Fund Committee" at Midland, are highly gratified at the splendid generosity on the part of the citizens of the Tri-State area who have responded as well to the appeal for money to make it possible to keep the Jones children together.

In the first week of the campaign, donations came from persons in nearly every walk of life, not only individuals, but church and fraternal organizations, civic groups, American Legion Post, employees of plants and other businesses. The Midland Methodist Sunday School gave $25, and the Baptist Training Union of the First Baptist Church in Cumberland, sent $5. Laura G. Whetzel, of Moorefield, W. Va., contributed $5 and wrote the NEWS that "I hope to be able to send something each month."

American Legion posts and other organizations, many of which will hold meetings this week, have signed their intention of making contributions to the fund and they expect to take action at their next meetings. The NEWS welcomes contributions from any source and hopes that other organizations, and individuals will help in this worthy undertaking. Employees in various departments of plants and shops are urged to solicit funds and turn them in as a group. The NEWS will publicly acknowledge all contributions in order that the public may know just what contributions are being made.

Rosenbaum Rites Will Be Held Here On Wednesday

Department Store President Was Active In Affairs Here

Funeral services for Morris Rosenbaum, 66, president of Rosenbaum Brothers, Inc., since 1932 and one of this city's outstanding business men and civic leaders who died at his home, 8 Buckingham road, the Dingle, early yesterday morning, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the home.

Prayers will be read by Rabbi Maurice Feuer, of B'er Chayim Temple, and by Dr. Charles A. Rubenstein, Baltimore, who has been a lifelong friend of the Rosenbaum family. Interment will be in East Gate Cemetery.

First stricken a month ago, Mr. Rosenbaum had apparently recovered and members of his family said he was in excellent spirits Sunday night until he became ill shortly before midnight. The attack marked the third relapse Mr. Rosenbaum had and his death came as a shock to his family and friends who had been in hopes that he was on the road to recovery.

Entered Business Here
Following his graduation from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., in 1901, he entered the local department store business founded in 1924 by S. Adler and Brother, uncles of Mr. Rosenbaum. The store operated originally on Mechanic street on the old stage coach route and later was established on part of the premises occupied by the present McCrory Store.

The present Rosenbaum building was opened in 1929 and in 1932, Mr. Rosenbaum was named president of the organization when the business was incorporated.

Mr. Rosenbaum was associated in the business with Irving Rosenberg, secretary-treasurer of the store, and under their direction the organization became the leading business establishment of its type in this area.

Friends of Mr. Rosenbaum remarked yesterday that he was a quiet, unassuming man, but he was well liked and admired for his qualities as a business man and for his interest in community and civic undertakings.

One of Mr. Rosenbaum's chief interests was in the Boy Scout program in Cumberland, which he directed for many years and assisted over a period of years. As a tribute of esteem for his unflinching devotion and interest, the Scouts awarded Mr. Rosenbaum the coveted Silver Beaver Award for his contributions to the movement.

Was Civic Leader
As a result of his interest in civic affairs, Mr. Rosenbaum headed many organizations and campaigns. He was past president of the Rotary Club, served as member of the Board of governors of Memorial Hospital until last year, president of the Mercantile Bureau and of the Community Baking Company, chairman of the Community Chest campaign and assisted in organizing the Chest, and was a member of the board of directors of the Liberty Trust Company.

Mr. Rosenbaum was a member of the B'er Chayim Congregation and was always a leader in church affairs. He was also highly regarded for his unflinching support of worthwhile charitable enterprises and was a liberal giver to all worthy causes.

The community has suffered a great loss. H. W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said this morning in commenting on Mr. Rosenbaum's death, "He was an able business man and a leader in community affairs. He was especially interested in the Boy Scout movement."

Musical Course Will Be Offered County Schools

Two Instructors Named To Give Instrumental Lessons To Students

A course in instrumental as well as vocal music is being added to the curriculum of Allegheny County High and Elementary schools to enable more children to take advantage of a musical education, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent, announced yesterday.

In revealing the program Kopp said "It appears that for a long time there has been a need for instruction in both wind and string instruments, and we are now in a position to expand our musical education. The purpose according to Kopp, is to start beginners' classes in both elementary and high schools.

Instructors Are Named
The instructors in instrumental music will be Wilton Sykes, whose appointment was recently announced and Harry Malcolm, LaVale, whose appointment the superintendent revealed yesterday.

Sykes will devote his time to string instruments, Kopp said, and Malcolm, a local music teacher, for a number of years, will instruct in wood wind and brass instruments.

According to the present program the two instructors will give group lessons in the county schools twice weekly. Kopp said a survey of the schools is being made to determine how many students will take advantage of the new course, and a more permanent schedule will be set up later.

In announcing the Board of Education plans to principal of the schools Kopp said, "I believe that this program will make for a very decided step forward in musical education for the children of Allegheny County schools." The school survey is expected to be completed Friday, November 1.

Plans Junior Bands
Jack Platt, director of musical education in elementary and high schools, said he plans to form junior bands and orchestras in the elementary schools once the new course has progressed far enough for students to present musical selections.

The only drawback in the program is that children must furnish their own instruments at the present time. Platt estimated that it would cost the county $60,000 to provide instruments for the students.

The program will definitely give county high schools high grade musicians for school bands in a few years, Platt said.

In addition to the county-wide instrumental course, Platt said the experimental class in piano lessons will be offered at Cresaptown elementary school, under the direction of Aden Lewis, music instructor and concert pianist. If the course proves successful at Cresaptown this year, Platt said, it will be extended to all county schools next year.

At present 34 students are enrolled for the course, which will be taught for a half hour each day on "dummy" key boards and then the pupils will be required to practice an additional half hour on the piano at home, Platt said. It is the responsibility of the parents to see that the children practice for the additional half hour, but the school will provide time for those who lack pianos at home.

The entire musical course is being offered on a voluntary basis and only those students who enroll will be given the benefit of the instruction, Platt said.

The musical course is something new in Allegheny County Schools, and it is hoped to make it one of the best courses in the state and give all children who desire to study, a firm musical background for the future, Platt explained.

McCauley Brought To Keyser Jail From Clarksburg

Guard Is Increased; Ryan Is Asked To Represent Slayer

Mark McCauley, 33-year-old truck driver for a strip mining operation at Shaw, W. Va., charged with the slaying of West Virginia police officer, was brought to the Mineral County jail at Keyser, W. Va., yesterday afternoon from Clarksburg to await action of the Mineral County grand jury which convenes October 15.

McCauley, arrested September 10 after a 24-hour manhunt, had been held in Harrison County jail at Clarksburg for safekeeping, but Vernon E. Rankin, Mineral County prosecuting attorney, said he believed the prisoner had subdued, "I have heard nothing to indicate any rough stuff," Rankin said.

McCauley Is Handcuffed
The confessed slayer was brought to Keyser under heavy guard of three state officers, led by First Sgt. Gail W. Busch, and Sheriff James A. Dixon of Mineral County.

Officers hiding in the back seat of the automobile, hauling McCauley as a precautionary measure to prevent McCauley from reaching their guns. Officers in the front seat were armed, however. McCauley was handcuffed, the shackles coupled to a belt about his waist to prevent him from raising his arms.

At Keyser, McCauley, wearing a long dark beard, was taken to the jail and the guard there was increased. The guards, Rankin said, are "pretty heavily armed." City police have been asked to be on the lookout for any unusual disturbances.

Contacted Ryan
Rankin said McCauley had contacted Edward J. Ryan, Cumberland and Probstburg attorney, about representing him at his trial if he is indicted by the grand jury, but that Ryan has not indicated whether or not he will accept the case. Ryan is expected to confer with McCauley later this week, Rankin added.

McCauley's arrest followed the killing of Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, veteran West Virginia State Police man, and Sheriff O. Clay Hovatter of Tucker County, and the wounding of the sheriff's son, Donald.

McCauley was in the custody of the officers on a charge of alleged truck theft when he shot them shortly after they stopped at the house of relatives of McCauley in Emoryville, W. Va., Rankin said.

Two New Routes Are Established In Cumberland

Two Additional Carriers Are Added And City Routes Shortened

In an effort to return mail delivery service in the city to a prewar basis, and assure all residents two deliveries of mail a day, a new program is being inaugurated by the local post office, effective today, according to F. E. Wright, post office inspector in charge.

Wright said two additional carriers have been added, and changes made in practically all city delivery routes, so that each carrier will deliver mail only once in the morning and then started over it for his second delivery in the afternoon. But when his eight hours of working day was finished, he was required to stop delivery and come in.

This meant that some homes received only one delivery daily, and few received two full deliveries regularly.

With the Post Office Department authorizing two more carriers, routes have been shortened and reorganized, and two deliveries may be made.

Wright emphasized the fact that the reorganization of routes affected every carrier in the city limits, and it will require about two weeks to iron out the wrinkles, and make certain routes as laid out on paper workable.

He expressed the opinion that most of the routes will work out all right for two full trip deliveries a day, but he repeated, "we will have to give it a fair trial before we can be certain."

Smith said there are, effective today, 21 trip carriers, three parcel post carriers and one mounted carrier in the city limits. The trip carriers have routes of about five miles length each. The mounted carrier, who works from an automobile, covers hilly sections and sparsely settled parts of the city, too far from regular routes.

The city has been growing over a period of years, Wright explained, and no new routes or carriers have been added for sometime. The department wishes to improve service and hopes the changes which become effective here today, will give Cumberland better service, he said.

Smith received a letter from Mayor Thomas S. Post congratulating him on his retirement and extending the best wishes of the city officials.

Among the men enlisted in the Navy yesterday, according to Schradler were Frederick Moomau, son of Mrs. Sarah T. Moomau, of 7 Main street, Petersburg, W. Va., who enlisted for four years. He attended Mercersburg Academy where he was a star in football, baseball, basketball and track.

Manuel Eugene Alvarez, 17, son of Manuel Alvarez of Luke, enlisted as an apprentice seaman.

Vincent Rose Bush, of the Maryland Hotel, was sworn into V-6 inactive reserve by Lt. William L. Wilson, USNR.

Thomas M. Cook, son of Mrs. Lotie E. Miller, Wiley Ford, W. Va., enlisted as a seaman first class. He is a veteran of three years army service and participated in several major actions in the ETO. He enlisted for four years service.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock with a requiem mass in St. Anne's Catholic Church, Wisconsin avenue, Washington.

Open Manhole Causes Two Minor Accidents
Two motorists reported to police that their cars were slightly damaged early Sunday night after a manhole cover came off on Baltimore street at Decatur.

Charles E. Hockman, DuBois, Pa., said a tire blew out and a wheel of his car was damaged when he struck the opening. Similar damage was reported by Rudert Altstetter, 304 Columbia street.

Police were called to Winose street early yesterday morning to remove a large tree which was blown over and was blocking traffic.

GATEWAY CHAIR

410 New Members Secured For "V" In Campaign

Plans Being Made For Special "New Membership Night"

V. F. Alkire, of Keyser, writes us to say that there was an error in the article reporting the death of one of our oldest and most respected citizens, Miss Ida Umstot. Mr. Alkire added that the statement that Miss Umstot's father was the first sheriff of the new made Mineral county was incorrect.

If my figures are correct," Mr. Alkire wrote, "Ance Umstot was sheriff from 1870 to 1874. His deputies were Joseph C. Arnold, father of our ex-banker Harry Arnold, (perhaps I should have said 'red-ed banker') and D. T. Greenwade at one time one of the leading merchants in the town of Keyser.

"During Sheriff Umstot's term of office, a Mrs. Dawson, who lived near what is now known as Gerstell, owned a very fine horse and it was stolen by a stranger passing through. However, the horse was recovered and the thief captured by the sheriff of Allegheny county and lodged in jail at Cumberland.

"My father, (being a justice of the peace, a member of the County Court, and the first clerk of the County Court, serving at that time, there being no salary connected with the office of clerk of the County Court) was requested by Sheriff Umstot to go to Cumberland and bring the prisoner to the jail in Mineral County. As was the custom of that day to use the old time saddlepockets, they used a pair to carry handcuffs and other necessary tools for handling 'bad men.'

"The prisoner was safely landed in jail but Sheriff Umstot took the saddlepocket home with him and the older brother and I were sent up to the Umstot's for the saddlepockets. We found they had other things in them besides handcuffs, etc., as both had invested in some of the late James Clark's rye whiskey and father's share was in those saddlepockets. I was old enough to remember, because I was cautioned carry that bag careful! as it's contents were valuable.

"A few years back some of the 'bad boys' in Mineral county jail were put to work to clean up the basement of the Court House and the vaults that had been used to store some of the old books. Among the 'rubbish' was found a copy of the first directory ever printed of the new state of West Virginia, which was published by a Wheeling firm, as Wheeling at that time was the capital of the state.

"This relic was kept for sometime in the sheriff's office and later it fell into the hands of the editor of the Mineral County News, (not the present editor), and he seemed to have forgotten where he got the book or what he did with it, and to date has not been found.

Chatter thanks Mr. Alkire for this interesting letter as many of our readers will enjoy reading about things which occurred many years ago.

Smith To Retire After Serving 27 Years In Navy

Chief Boatswain's Mate Bradford Smith, who has been the local United States Navy recruiter here for the past year, left yesterday for the Post Demobilization Center at Bainbridge, Md., to be released to inactive duty. Chief Smith has 27 years of Naval Service and will be retired with a pension. He plans to reside in Washington, D. C.

Chief Smith was assigned to the local station on the Baltimore recruiting office, to work with Schradler, and he is expected to be here today.

Smith received a letter from Mayor Thomas S. Post congratulating him on his retirement and extending the best wishes of the city officials.

Among the men enlisted in the Navy yesterday, according to Schradler were Frederick Moomau, son of Mrs. Sarah T. Moomau, of 7 Main street, Petersburg, W. Va., who enlisted for four years. He attended Mercersburg Academy where he was a star in football, baseball, basketball and track.

Crash Victim Asks $25,000 Damages

Asking damages of $25,000, Catherine Page, Cumberland, has filed suit in Circuit Court against Robert Vernon Geist and Fred William Jenkins, the latter trading as the Astor Cab Company, charging that she was permanently injured in a collision on Baltimore street at 5:30 a. m. September 20.

The woman said she was a passenger in an Astor cab when the taxi and a car operated by Geist collided at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre streets. She alleged that both drivers were exceeding the speed limit at the time of the crash. She said she suffered fractures of both jaws, had several teeth knocked out and also suffered concussion of the brain and injuries about the body. Morgan C. Harris is her attorney.

In another damage action, Ralph Ravenscroft asks $500 damages from Foster Clark, Frostburg, contending that the driver of a car caused a traffic accident last August 6. Ravenscroft is represented by F. Brooke Whiting and D. Lindley Sloan.

In their contract, the complainants agreed to "back-fill" all channels and cuts on the Michael Farm but have failed to do so, Mr. and Mrs. Moran allege. They added that they will be required to spend more than $5,000 to complete the back-filling and preserve the value of the property. They said the Morehouses also destroyed a lot of fencing and failed to replace it.

The attack marked the third relapse Mr. Rosenbaum had and his death came as a shock to his family and friends who had been in hopes that he was on the road to recovery.

Entered Business Here
Following his graduation from Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., in 1901, he entered the local department store business founded in 1888 by S. Adler and Brother, uncles of Mr. Rosenbaum. The store operated originally on Mechanic street, on the old stage coach route, and later was established on part of the premises occupied by the present McCrory Store.

The present Rosenbaum building was opened in 1889 and in 1932, Mr. Rosenbaum was named president of the organization when the business was incorporated.

Mr. Rosenbaum was associated in the business with Irving Rosenbaum, secretary-treasurer of the store, and under their direction the organization became the leading business establishment of its type in this area.

Friends of Mr. Rosenbaum remarked yesterday that he was a quiet, unassuming man who was well liked and admired for his qualities as a business man and for his interest in community and civic undertakings.

One of Mr. Rosenbaum's chief interests was in the Boy Scout program in Cumberland which he helped to organize and assisted over a period of years. As a tribute of esteem for his unflinching devotion and interest, the Scouts awarded Mr. Rosenbaum the coveted Silver Beaver Award for his contributions to the movement.

Was Civic Leader
As a result of his interest in civic affairs, Mr. Rosenbaum headed many organizations and campaigns. He was past president of the Rotary Club, served as member of the board of governors of the Maryland State Hospital for the Insane, president of the Mercantile Bureau, a director of the Community Baking Company, chairman of the Community Chest campaign and assisted in organizing the Chest, and was a member of the board of directors of the Liberty Bell Company.

Mr. Rosenbaum was a member of the B'er Chayim Congregation and was always a leader in church affairs. He was also highly regarded for his unflinching support of worthwhile charitable enterprises and was a natural giver to all worthy causes.

The community has suffered a great loss, H. W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said this morning in commenting on Mr. Rosenbaum's death. "He was an able business man and a leader in all civic affairs. He was especially interested in the Boy Scout movement but was actively identified with all worthwhile enterprises."

Musical Course Will Be Offered County Schools

Two Instructors Named To Give Instrumental Lessons To Students

A course in instrumental as well as vocal music is being added to the curriculum of Allegheny County High and Elementary schools to enable more children to take advantage of a musical education, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent, announced yesterday.

In revealing the program Kopp said "It appears that for a long time there has been a need for instruction in both wind and string instruments, and we are now in a position to expand our musical education." The purpose, according to Kopp, is to start beginners' classes in both elementary and high schools.

Instructors Are Named
The instructors in instrumental music will be Wilton Sykes, whose appointment was recently announced, and Harry Malcolm, LaVale, whose appointment the superintendent revealed yesterday.

Sykes will devote his time to string instruments, Kopp said, and Malcolm, a local music teacher, for a number of years, will instruct in wood wind and brass instruments.

According to the present program the two instructors will give group lessons in the county schools twice weekly. Kopp said a survey of the schools is being made to determine how many students will be set up later.

In announcing the Board of Education plans to principals of the schools Kopp said, "I believe that this program will make for a very decided step forward in musical education for the children of Allegheny County schools." The school survey is expected to be completed Friday, November 4.

Plans Junior Bands
Jack Platt, director of musical education in elementary and high schools, said he plans to form junior bands and orchestras in the elementary schools, once the new course has progressed far enough for students to present musical selections.

The only drawback in the program is that children must furnish their own instruments at the present time. Platt estimated that it would cost the county $60,000 to provide instruments for the students.

The program will definitely give county high schools high grade musicians for school bands in a few years, Platt said.

In addition to the county-wide instrumental course, Platt said an experimental class in piano lessons will be offered at Cresaptown elementary school, under the direction of Aden Lewis, music instructor and concert pianist. If the course proves successful at Cresaptown this year, Platt said, it will be extended to all county schools next year.

34 Take Piano Lessons
At present 34 students are enrolled for the course, which will be taught for a half hour each day on "dummy" key boards and then the additional half hour on the piano. If the students have piano at home, Platt said, it will be the responsibility of the parents to see that the children practice for the additional half hour, but the school will provide time for those who do not have a piano at home.

The entire musical course is being offered on a volunteer basis, and only those students who enroll will be given the benefit of the instructions, Platt said.

The musical course is something new in Allegheny County Schools, and it is hoped to make it one of the best courses in the state and give all children who desire to study, a firm musical background for the future, Platt explained.

Of this number 24 gave the same amount as last year. Eight contributed less and 12 increased their annual contributions. The report indicates that giving is 104 per cent of last year's contributions.

The next report meeting of Advanced Gifts will be held Friday noon in the George Williams Room, Central YMCA. Adolf Blunk and Dr. A. H. Hawkins head of the group.

Developing of a second outlet from the Broadway section could involve the city in considerable expense and responsibility, said the city engineer explained to the Mayor and City Council yesterday, after an application for improvements was filed by Sidney D. Phillips.

Phillips offered to donate land for the second outlet, when he instituted the city for a sidewalk or made it plain that cost of the land would prove a minor expense in the overall picture.

Rizer warned the council that the work might not take long, but as proposed by Phillips, the maintenance would be high and never-ending. He said that so far Phillips had not submitted a proposal meeting with his approval.

According to the engineer, the gradings suggested by the Broadway residents are steep and that the outlet would not provide a short cut. There are three ways that the council can assume responsibility for a street, the members were informed: Formal acceptance, use by a period of 20 years, and performance of work on the street.

Charles Z. Baskett, city attorney, suggested that the law and order be changed to require approval of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission of a new section before the engineer would be required to issue a building permit.

Two New Routes Are Established In Cumberland

Two Additional Carriers Are Added And City Routes Shortened

In an effort to return mail delivery service in the city to a prewar basis, an assau all residents two deliveries of mail a day, a new program is being inaugurated by the local post office, effective today, according to F. E. Wright, post office inspector in charge.

Wright said two additional carriers have been added, and changes made in practically all city delivery routes, so that each carrier will have less area and consequently more time to get over his route twice daily.

For sometime past, Wright explained, outlying areas and parts of all routes received only one full delivery of mail each day. A carrier went over his route in the morning, and then started over it for his second delivery in the afternoon. But when his eight hours of working day was finished, he was required to stop delivery and come in.

This meant that some homes received only one delivery daily, and few received two full deliveries regularly.

With the Post Office Department authorizing two more carriers, routes have been shortened and reorganized, and two deliveries may be possible.

Wright emphasized the fact that the reorganization of routes affected every carrier in the city limits, and it will require about two weeks to iron out the wrinkles and make certain routes as laid out on paper workable.

He expressed the opinion that most of the routes will work out all right for two full trip deliveries a day, but he repeated, "we will have given it a fair trial before we can be certain."

Wright said there are, effective today, 21 trip carriers, three parcel carriers and one mounted carrier in the city limits. The trip carriers have routes of about five miles length each. The mounted carriers, who work from an automobile, covers outlying sections and sparsely settled parts of the city, too far from regular routes.

The city has been growing over a period of years, Wright explained, and new routes of carriers have been added for sometime. The department wishes to improve service and hopes the changes which become effective here today, will give Cumberland better service, he said.

Smith received a letter from Mayor Thomas S. Post congratulating him on his retirement and expressing the best wishes of the city officials.

Asking damages of $25,000, Catherine Page, Cumberland, has filed suit in Circuit Court against Robert Vernon Geist and Fred William Jenkins, the latter trading as the Astor Cab Company, charging that she was permanently injured in a collision on Baltimore street at 5:30 a. m. September 20.

The woman said she was a passenger in an Astor cab when the taxi and a car operated by Geist collided at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre streets. She alleged that both drivers were exceeding the speed limit at the time of the crash. She said the sufferer fractures of both jaws, had several teeth knocked out and also suffered concussion of the brain and injuries about the body. Morgan C. Harris is her attorney.

GATEWAY CHATTER

By NEWS STAFF MEMBERS

V. F. Alkire, of Keyser, writes us to say that there was an error in the article reporting the death of "one of our oldest and most respected citizens, Miss Ida Umstot." Mr. Alkire added that the statement that Miss Umstot's father was the first sheriff of the new made Mineral county was incorrect.

"If my figures are correct," Mr. Alkire, wrote, "Amos Umstot was sheriff from 1870 to 1874. His deputies were Joseph C. Arnold, father of our ex-banker, Harry Arnold, (perhaps I should have said 'red banker') and D. T. Greenwade at one time one of the leading merchants in the town of Keyser.

"During Sheriff Umstot's term of office," Mrs. Dawson, who lived near what is now known as Gerstell, owned a very fine horse and it was stolen by a stranger passing through. However, the horse was recovered and the thief captured by the sheriff of Allegheny county and lodged in jail at Cumberland.

"My father, (being a justice of the peace, a member of the County Court, and the first clerk of the County Court, serving at that time, there being no salary connected with the office of clerk of the County Court) was requested by Sheriff Umstot to go to Cumberland and bring the prisoner to the jail in Mineral County. As was the custom of that day to use the old time saddlebags, they used a pair to carry the prisoner, and the necessary tools for handling 'bad men.'

"The prisoner was safely landed in jail but Sheriff Umstot took the saddlebags home with him and my older brother and I were sent up to the Umstot's for the saddlebags. We found they had other things in them besides 'bad men's,' etc., as both of us had been in some of the late James Clark's rye whiskey and father's share was in those saddlebags. I was old enough to remember, because I was cautioned 'carry that bag careful' as its contents were valuable.

"A few years back some of the 'bad boys' in the Mineral county jail were put to work to clean up the basement of the Court House and the vaults that had been used to store some of the 'old books. Among the 'rubbish' was found a copy of the first dictionary ever printed of the new state of West Virginia, which was published by a Wheeling firm, as Wheeling at that time was the capital of the state.

"This relic was kept for sometime in the sheriff's office and later it fell into the hands of the editor of the Mineral County News, (not the present editor), and the second time it was forgotten when he got the book or what he did with it, and to date has not been found."

Chatter thanks Mr. Alkire for this interesting letter as many of our readers will enjoy reading about things which occurred many years ago.

Total value of all memberships obtained in the drive was $2,833. Robert L. Slison, secretary of the YMCA, announced that some workers have a few prospect cards which they have failed to solicit, and requested that they complete them by Friday.

Slison also indicated that he is making plans for a "New Membership Night," when all new members will be invited to attend a special meeting and program at the YMCA.

At last night's meeting, Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation. Lloyd Rawlings led the singing with Perry Rosenmarkel as accompanist.

Hearing Is Set Thursday In Strip Mining Dispute

Morans Amend Answer To Injunction Suit Filed By Morehouses

A hearing has been scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday in Circuit Court in the injunction proceedings filed last March by Daken C. Morehouse and David W. Morehouse, partners, trading as Morehouse Brothers, against Edward S. Moran and Sarah J. Moran in a dispute over a strip mining operation near West-empot. The Morehouse Brothers charged the Morans with failing to live up to terms of a contract.

A decree pro confesso had been entered against the defendants, but it was stricken out yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster on the petition of William C. Walsh and Edward J. Ryan, attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Moran, who said they have a bona fide defense.

In an amended answer filed by the defendants, they charged that Morehouse Brothers owe them $12,500 as a result of the strip mining operation, and asked that a decree be passed for that amount in their favor.

Owe Complains $108,658
Mr. and Mrs. Moran declared they agreed to pay the Morehouse Brothers a net ton plus 60 cents a net ton for hauling and loading coal in railroad cars, and agreed to allow the complainants 50 per cent of any profits accumulated on coal from Penn-Mar Tract.

An audit shows according to the defendants, that the Morehouse Brothers owe them $108,658, which they said they are willing to pay or account for on a proper adjustment of claims of the parties.

The defendants said they admit they agreed to pay the complainants 20 cents a ton, but that the latter had uncovered and the former had removed. They also admit that the tonnage removed by the defendants was 7,652.45 which, at 20 cents a ton, amounts to $1,530.
